MAN WITH GUN STOOD OFF MOB

Fired as He Ran, Pursued by Police and Angry Crowd.

TRIPPED BY FIREMAN

Spectators Made Ugly Demonstration After the Fugitive Had Been Captured.

PULLED REVOLVER ON WIFE

Firing as he ran, pursued by a police officer and a crowd of citizens, Cornelius A. Wheeler, a negro of Columbus, O., was captured after a long chase. The negro fired four shots at Police Lieut. Harry C. Meyers, and reloading his revolver held some 500 persons at bay in Forbes street. As Wheeler was running out Fifth avenue Capt. Frank Loxterman of No. 4 engine house tripped the negro with his foot and threw him on the pavement. Loxterman jumped on him as he lay in the snow.

Wheeler, alias Clifford, was wanted in Allegheny on a charge of felonious cutting made by his wife. A year ago he cut the woman during a quarrel and went to Columbus. His children were placed in the Home for Colored Children, Termon street, Allegheny.

Pointed Revolver at His Wife.

The negro said he came to the city yesterday to see his children. While standing at Logan and Franklin streets he met his wife with another man. Wheeler talked to them a few moments, then drew his revolver and pointed it at his wife. Meyers started after the negro, when Wheeler fired two shots at him. The negro had a 38-caliber Smith & Wesson revolver with a six-inch barrel.

After shooting at the officer the negro ran out Franklin street to Clark street, with Meyers after him. While running along Clark street two men attempted to stop the negro, and he fired at them. From Clark he ran into Colwell street, where he fired at Meyers again. By this time several hundred persons took up the chase and Meyers was afraid to draw his revolver on account of hitting a citizen. From Colwell Wheeler turned into Pride and ran to Forbes street. Here he threw the empty shells out of his revolver and reloaded it again. He turned from Forbes into Marion and dashed out Fifth avenue. Meyers was about 50 yards behind the negro.

Capture of the Negro.

Capt. Loxterman was standing across the street from the engine house and saw the negro coming with his revolver drawn. The fireman got behind a telegraph pole, and as Wheeler ran by he put out his foot, tripping the negro. The negro fell on his face and the revolver rolled into the snow. Loxterman jumped on his back as Lieut. Meyers came up. Wheeler was taken into the engine house and tried to break away. When he made the attempt the firemen floored him.

Just as the capture was made the crowd that had followed the chase gathered about the engine house and made angry demonstrations. Lieut. Meyers told the people Wheeler was safe and asked them to move on. Fifth avenue was so congested by the crowd that street cars were blocked for five minutes.

Wheeler Will Be Railroaded.

Wheeler was taken to the Center avenue station house and last night removed to the Central station. He is aged 30 and weights about 170 pounds.

Superintendent Wallace laughed at the negro when he denied shooting at Meyers.

"You won't shoot at my officers again when I am through with you," said Wallace.

The policemen congratulated Meyers last night on his capture and having escaped injury. Meyers has been on the force for 15 years and is known as one of the gamest little men in the bureau. Superintendent Wallace will have Meyers make information against the negro this morning and have the case taken before the grand jury immediately. The police will ask the district attorney to make an example of Wheeler and send him to the penitentiary as soon as possible.

MISS DAISY LEITER TO WED.

Formal Announcement Is Made of Her Engagement to the Earl of Suffolk.

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—(Special.)—A romance that had its beginning in India came to an interesting denouement tonight when formal announcement was made of the engagement of Miss Daisy Leiter, sister of Lady Curzon, to the earl of Suffolk and Berkshire.

Weeks ago the betrothal was rumored in London, but was denied by Mrs. Levi Z. Leiter from the family residence at 161 Rush street. The date of the wedding has not been decided on, but it will probably be near the end of December.

CHARGED WITH ROBBING BANK

Two Men Arrested in Illinois, Having $1,680 in Currency in Their Pockets.

PEORIA, ILL., Dec. 11.—With $1,800 in currency in their pockets, two men accused of robbing the Peoria National bank Saturday noon were captured at Toulon today. One of them has been identified as Edward O'Regan, alias James Williams. The identity of his partner has not been determined.

Found Almost Frozen to Death.

NEW CASTLE, Dec. 11.—(Special.)—John C. Moll, aged 54, a shoemaker, was found almost frozen to death this morning by railroad men along the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad. He is now at the hospital. The physicians say he cannot recover. He is married and has two children. Reports from the country districts show from two to five degrees below zero.

Interesting Figuring.

ROBBED CHOIR WHILE THEY SANG

Thief Stole $110 from Singers of St. Peter's Episcopal Church During Service.

WORKED A NOVEL SCHEME

While the 16 members of the choir of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Craft avenue and Forbes street, were rendering an old English cathedral choral service in the church last evening, an unknown man entered the choir room and ransacked the singers' clothes of $110.

The choir room is back of the pulpit and opens into a passageway between the church proper and the parish house. As is their custom, the members of the choir went to the choir room last evening, changing their street garments for their robes, and went into the choir, taking the usual precaution of locking the door of the choir room leading into the street.

During the service a member of the congregation was surprised to hear a young man seated behind him announce:

"One of the fuses have blown out down stairs," whereupon he left his pew and started out.

It appears he descended the stairs leading from the lobby of the church into the cellar and there passed Paul Jackson, the colored janitor, who, believing him to be a member of the choir, did not stop him. The man returned shortly after and calmly walked out of the front door of the church.

After the service members of the choir discovered all their money had been taken. Some valuable purses, property of the women, were not removed, but their contents taken. Nothing but money was stolen. Janitor Jackson describes the stranger as a man apparently 27 years of age, smooth shaven and neatly attired, but wearing no overcoat. The choir singers were compelled to barrow car fare from Rector E. H. Ward to return to their homes. The largest individual loss was $20.

ANOTHER CHANCE IS WON BY KIND ACTS TO MOTHER

Boy's Faithfulness Secured Him Freedom After Being Arrested in a Braddock Store.

John Glenn, a boy arrested in a store at Braddock Thursday night and held in the Braddock police police station since that time, was released yesterday by order of Justice L. F. Holtzman. His mother's pleas and the lad's reputation for being kind to her saved him from the juvenile court or a term at Morganza. Glenn is 14 years old, the son of Mrs. Laura Glenn, who has three other children to support.

The mother pleaded to be allowed to sit in the corridor beside the boy's cell all night in order to comfort him. When this was refused, she begged she be locked up as ball for the boy, and that he be allowed to go home. At the hearing she said her son had always been good to her, working faithfully early and late to help her support the family. She said he gave her every cent he earned.

Manager William Jones of the store consented to withdraw the charge if Justice Holtzman would give the boy another chance, which he decided to do.

ALTOONA, Dec. 11.—(Special.)—Winfield S. Hughes, aged 30, a well-known business man of Altoona, while lighting an instantaneous water heater in the bathroom at his home this afternoon, turned on too much gas and the tank exploded. The top was blown off, striking him in the chest, and a gas pipe was broken. He was so weakened by the blow that he was unable to get out of the room and was asphyxiated by the escaping gas.

Members of his family heard the noise of the explosion, but before they got into the bathroom, which had been locked, he was dead.

MANY HOURS IN RIGGING OF A WRECKED SHIP

One Sailor Frozen to Death, While Six Are Finally Gotten Ashore.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NORFOLK, VA., Dec. 11.—The three-masted schooner Montana, Capt. Boyce, from Baltimore, for Charleston, S. C., stranded last night at Pea Island, N. C., life-saving station during a heavy northerly gale. Within 20 minutes after the vessel stranded she was full of water and awash so that the crew, consisting of Capt. Boyce and six men, were forced to take to the rigging, where they remained 13 hours, when six of the seven men were rescued by crews of the life-saving stations.

One man, Henry Edwards, was frozen to death. His body is still aboard the ship hanging in the rigging head downward. One other member of the crew was almost frozen to death, but probably will recover. The rescued crew are now at the Pea Island life-saving station.

Only two of those in the rigging were able to assist in hauling the whip line aboard the vessel. Again and again the line was shot out and one by one the men were taken off the ship in the breeches buoy. Their clothing was coated with thick layers of ice.

FISHERMEN DESERTED A SHIP THAT AFTERWARD WAS SAVED

Four Men Perished and Five Others Fought Sea and Gale, Reaching Harbor.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

HIGHLANDS LIGHT, MASS., Dec. 11.—Four of the 29 members of the crew of the Boston fishing schooner Fish Hawk lost their lives last night after deserting their vessel, which had struck and was pounding heavily on Peaked Hill bars. Five others, including Capt. Bly, had a severe six-hour tussel against a freezing sea and gale in a small dory, but managed to reach Provincetown harbor.

Before the others could leave the ship the wind and sea had driven the Fish Hawk over the bar and she was navigated into Provincetown harbor.

The lost men were: Thomas Kennedy, East Boston; John Woodworth, Everett; John Drew, Boston, and Joseph Kehoe, Gloucester.

CRAZY ITALIAN WITH AX PERCHES ON CHURCH ORGAN

Defies Seven Policemen in a Church. Three Officers Wounded and Foreigner Shot.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Dec. 11.—Clad only in his underclothing and a raving maniac from an attack of typhoid fever, James Delatto, an Italian, 32 years of age, with an ax held seven policemen at bay for over two hours in the Fifth Reformed Dutch church shortly before the morning service today.

Before being captured he jumped on top of the big pipe organ and policemen were compelled to climb into it from overhead to capture him. In the capture three policemen were cut with the ax and Delatto was shot through the head, but may recover. The organ was damaged to the extent of $1,500, and other damage was caused in the church by the ax.

Altoona Man Frozen to Death.

ALTOONA, Dec. 11.—(Special.)—Gustave Kohlbaum, a German, aged about 35, was frozen to death last night in a field four miles east of this city.

Foot tracks in the snow show that he wandered round and round the field, each time stopping when he came to a wire fence, apparently being so chilled that he was unable to get over it.

Five Below Zero at Sharon.

SHARON, Dec. 11.—(Special.)—Last night the thermometer registered five degrees below zero. The river is frozen over for the first time this winter.

ONE SHIP DEFIES JAPANESE GUNS

Unable to Reach Sevastopol from 203-Meter Hill or With Torpedo Boats.

HOSPITAL SHIPS IN DANGER

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

TOKYO, Dec. 11.—(4 p. m.)—The Japanese continue to batter the Port Arthur fleet from 203 Meter hill, and there is little ground for expecting that it will ever again engage the Japanese. The battleship Sevastopol continues at anchor outside, but possibly returns to the harbor at night and anchors inside the outer boom, which protects her from torpedo boats. The recent heavy weather has given added protection to the vessel.

Naval experts are discarding the theory that the Russians themselves sank any of the ships. The fact the vessels first showed lists while in exposed positions and the efforts made to save the Sevastopol are regarded as conclusive evidence against the theory of their being sunk by the Russians. A majority of the sunken warships lie headed northward. They received the bulk of the fire across their port sides, and the fact that at least two of them showed lists to starboard gives rise to the theory that Japanese shells exploded inside the ships and against the starboard armor, driving the armor outward and causing leaks. To make sure of the destruction of the Russian warships the Japanese continue to drop shells into the sunken hulks. The whereabouts of the torpedo boat destroyers continues doubtful, but it is thought they are sheltering outside the harbor.

The weather prevents a good observation being made, but the Japanese are sending a searching fire into nooks which are not observable from 203 Meter hill and other heights. The observers report a number of tugs, launches, dredgers and small craft anchored near the hospital ships in the west harbor, where they evidently have gone for the purpose of obtaining protection. It is suggested that the besiegers notify Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel to separate these vessels from the hospital ships or take the consequences.

The Japanese are exercising care to avoid hitting the hospital ships, which frequently are in the direct line of fire.

Had No Contraband Coal Aboard.

PERIM, ADEN, Dec. 11.—A boat from the British cruiser Fox this afternoon boarded the British steamer St. Leonards, credited with carrying coal for the Russian second Pacific squadron, and brought her into port. After an inquiry she was released and resumed her voyage to Mozambique.

STREET CAR STRIKES HOUSE, THROWS FAMILY FROM BED

Motorman May Die of Injuries Received. Four Other Persons Were More or Less Severely Hurt.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WHEELING, W. VA., Dec. 11.—Five persons were injured, three seriously, through a City Railway car jumping the tracks and crashing into a dwelling house early this morning.

The injured are: Frederick F. Brinkman, motorman, who may die; Jeannette Smith, Antone Scheer, Mrs. John Smith and Harry Martin. In consequence of the recent snow the rails were slippery. The brakes refused to work and the motorman lost control of the car, which jumped the tracks at a sharp curve and plunged into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cook. The house is a frame structure one story high, and was moved a foot off its foundation. All the members of the Cook family were thrown from their beds, but except for bruises none was injured.

RIGHT UNDER BOBBY'S EYE.

Pickpocket Worked Among Gang of Prisoners During Sunday Hearings at Central Station.

A man was robbed of a gold watch right in Central station yesterday morning. The theft was reported within a few minutes after it had been discovered, but the police decided they could not search the 100 or more persons in the station at the time and the watch now ticks in another man's vest.

The loser had been arrested on a charge of gambling and had paid his fine but a minute before.

Altoona Official's Serious Mistake.

ALTOONA, Dec. 11.—(Special.)—City Treasurer Fred Schoffield this afternoon swallowed carbolic acid in mistake for a sleeping draught and is now in a serious condition.

RUSSIAN RIOT AGAINST WAR

Big Demonstration in St. Petersburg Ended by Police and Gendarmes.

WOMEN IN MELEE

Red Flags Waved and Desperate Struggle Occurs Until Crowd Is Dispersed.

MANY PERSONS ARE WOUNDED

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 11.—A popular anti-government demonstration, the participants in which included large numbers of students of both sexes, began at midday in the Nevski prospect and lasted about two hours.

The rioters demanded an immediate end of the war and the convocation of a national assembly.

Hundreds of police and mounted gendarmes, who were hidden in the courtyard of the public buildings, emerged suddenly and charged the crowd at full gallop, driving the demonstrators in headlong confusion and screaming with terror upon the sidewalks and into adjacent streets.

This led to serious encounters, 50 persons being more or less severely injured. Large numbers were arrested.

Not since the riots of 1901, when Cossacks stretched across the Nevski prospect from building to building charged down the boulevard from the Moscow station to the Nevi, has the Russian capital lived through such a day of excitement as this. The authorities last night got wind of the demonstration planned by the Social Democratic Labor party.

Warning in Newspapers.

Leading every paper this morning in black-faced type was an explicit warning to the people at their peril to desist from congregating in the Nevski prospect near the Kasan cathedral. At the same time extensive preparations were made to quell any disturbance. The police on the Nevski prospect were sextupled and the dvorniks, or house porters, were marshaled in front of their respective buildings. Half a dozen squadrons of mounted gendarmerie were massed in the rear of the Kasan cathedral, and battalions of reserve police were stationed in several courtyards out of sight. Minister of the Interior Sviatopolk-Mirsky gave strict orders, however, that no Cossacks should be used, and Fullon, chief of police, issued explicit directions to avoid harsh measures unless it should become absolutely necessary.

The newspaper warnings, however, attracted seemingly the whole population of this vast city to the broad thoroughfare, and long before the hour fixed, despite the pleading of the police, who literally lined the sidewalks, the throngs on the pavements were so dense that movement was almost impossible, while the snow-covered boulevard was black with a tangled mass of sleighs, filled mostly with the curious.

Women Students in Crowd.

In throngs on the sidewalk were practically the whole student body of the capital, including many young women, who have always been prominent in Russia in liberal revolutionary movements, and also thousands of workmen belonging to the Social Labor party.

Toward 1 o'clock the workmen and students seemed to swarm toward the corner of the Hotel Europe, opposite the Kasan cathedral. The police, recognizing that the critical moment was approaching, tried in vain to keep back the human tide. Then, when there was not a single mounted policeman in sight, on the stroke of 1, from the heart of the thickly-wedged crowd a blood-red flag, like a jet of flame, suddenly shot up. It was the signal. Other flags appeared in the crowd, waving frantically overhead, and they were greeted with a hoarse roar, "Down with autocracy." The students surged into the street, singing the "Marseillaise," while innocent spectators, seeking to extricate themselves, crowded into doorways and hugged walls. Dismounted police made a single attempt to force their way into the crowd to wrest the flags from the demonstrators, but the students and workmen, armed with sticks, stood close and beat back their assailants.

Gendarmes Pour Out.

Then, like a flash, from behind the Kasan cathedral came a squadron of gendarmerie. The doors of adjoining courtyards were thrown back and battalions of police came out. A double squadron charged the flank of the demonstrators with drawn sabres. Five other squadrons circled the mob, cutting through the fringe of spectators, who gladly scurried to cover. The main wedge of the demonstrators stood fast only a moment or two. There was a sharp rattle of cudgels and sabres, though the wounds showed the police struck practically with the flat of their sabres. The women were especially fierce in their resistance. Many were struck and trampled and blood streamed down their faces.

While the mob stood, those within managed to throw hundreds of revolutionary proclamations over the heads of their fellows. The police urged their horses fiercely into the crowd, driving those who resisted into the courtyards, the hotel Europe and the Catholic church. The intense excitement lasted about 10 minutes, after which mounted squads of the gendarmerie patrolled the streets and the policemen devoted themselves to keeping the crowd moving.

Police Act Humanely.

Considering the sharp fight the rioters had put up, the police acted humanely with the crowd, avoiding brutality and roughness in keeping the throng moving, and showing really more consideration than the police of many American cities would do under similar circumstances.

In the meantime those confined in the courtyards who were recognized as agitators were arrested, but others were al-

IRI REYNOLDS TELLS SECRET

Says Mrs. Chadwick Told Him She Was Carnegie's Daughter.

HE BELIEVED STORY

Cleveland Banker Explains the Cause of His Dealings With the Woman.

GOT $500,000 IN PITTSBURGH

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CLEVELAND, Dec. 11.—Secretary Iri Reynolds of the Wade Park bank declared tonight that his implicit belief in the statements made to him by Mrs. Chadwick in which she declared herself to be the daughter or Andrew Carnegie was the impelling cause of his financial dealing with her.

"She told me," said Mr. Reynolds, "that she was the daughter of Andrew Carnegie, and I believed her. I never doubted her story until on the occasion of my last visit to New York, when Mr. Squire came to me and declared that all the securities she had given me as the notes of Andrew Carnegie were worthless. It was only then that I doubted her. Before that I had refused to say anything about her or her affairs because I deemed it my duty to protect her in the story of her birth as she had given it to me.

"When she told me the story of being the daughter of Andrew Carnegie, her husband, Dr. Chadwick, was present, and he believed the story as I did. The stories of her giving large sums of money to her husband are false. He is now in Europe, and is penniless.

Offered Present of $100,000.

"Just to show the methods of Mrs. Chadwick, I will tell of what she offered to do for me about one year ago. She came to me in my office here and said she was grateful for all that I had done for her and that she wished me to accept a present from her. She then offered me $100,000 in four notes of $25,000 each. The notes were drawn by her and she declared they were as good as gold. They may have been, for I know that her notes for similar amounts had been negotiated in banks in this city, and had been taken up at maturity. Of course, as an officer of the bank I could not accept such a present and remain in the institution. I was compelled either to resign or decline the present of the notes, and I declined the notes."

The directors of the Wade Park bank, however, to a man are determined to stand by Secretary Reynolds, and insist that he remain with the bank. He has offered to resign repeatedly during the last two weeks, but the directors have refused to accept the resignation and declare he shall retain his position.

Determined to Keep Her in Jail.

Both the federal and state authorities have united in the determination to keep Mrs. Chadwick behind prison bars until she is brought before either the federal grand jury or the grand jury of this county to answer to the charges against her. The determination emphatically to resist Mrs. Chadwick on a bail bond was reached today after a telephone conference between United States District Attorney Sullivan and County Prosecutor Keeler. Following the conference, Mr. Sullivan wired the New York officials suggesting that if bondsmen appeared for Mrs. Chadwick tomorrow that the amount of bond in which she is now held be increased to $25,000 or $50,000, if necessary, to keep her in jail. It is explained that the authorities have power either to increase or to decrease the amount of bond as they see fit.

In addition to suggesting a bond increase and the kind of the bond other steps have been taken calculated absolutely to prevent Mrs. Chadwick from securing her freedom before she has been brought to trial.

Only a Mite for Creditors.

According to the most accurate estimate of the estate of Mrs. Chadwick that is possible, before the receiver has investigated her assets, and reported his findings to the court, her creditors as a whole will receive about one and one-half mills on the dollar. What lends additional interest to this showing, from the creditor's standpoint, is that one man, Iri Reynolds, will receive the whole of the assets visible at the present time. There may be funds in reserve somewhere as there may be additional creditors who have not yet announced that Mrs. Chadwick is indebted to them, but it is not expected by bankers and attorneys of this city, who have the greatest knowledge of her affairs, that any more large loans will be developed. The extent of her operations is now believed to be approximately as follows:

Secured from Citizens National bank of Oberlin, O., and various sources in and about Lorain county, O., $500,000; borrowed from Herbert B. Newton, $100,000; borrowed from business men in Pittsburgh, $300,000. Total, $1,100,000.

Against this amount stands security of known value on one note amounting to $1,800, which is held by Iri Reynolds.

Money Received in Pittsburgh.

The amount of money received by Mrs. Chadwick in Pittsburgh may run as high as $800,000, but it is believed that a portion of this sum is a bonus promised by her for an original loan of at least $500,000. If her debt in this direction is $800,000, the probability in sight of the creditors is about one and one-fifth mills on the dollar.

It is not believed by any of the attorneys in the case that the Carnegie securities will be of any account whatever. If they do at any time reveal value other than that of so many cents a pound of white paper, the delight of the lawyers will be comparable only to their amazement, and just now they are anticipating neither pleasure nor astonishment.

The case of Mrs. Chadwick will tomorrow morning be brought before the grand jury of Cuyahoga county. The investigation will extend only to the alleged forgeries of the Carnegie notes, and a report from the jury is expected no later than Tuesday.

Forgery Charge May Not Stand.

It is the opinion of some of the leading attorneys of Cleveland that a charge of forgery cannot be made to hold in connection with these notes. They declare that it is not an act of forgery for one person to write the name of another, but that the offense lies in the attempt to negotiate such a signature for a specific value. This, they say, there is so far no evidence that Mrs. Chadwick has done. She has not sold or attempted to sell the notes for cash. She has not said that she would be glad to obtain money in exchange for them. She has obtained money from various sources, on the statement of Iri Reynolds, that she, to the best of his knowledge and belief, held securities of a certain value, and whether he proves correct or otherwise in his estimate of the value of the notes, there can be no doubt that Mr. Reynolds believed what he said.

There has been, according to the attorneys, no evidence so far elicted showing that Mrs. Chadwick obtained money on these notes in any other manner than through the attestation of Iri Reynolds that he had seen the notes and considered them good. If any man loaned money to Mrs. Chadwick according to the strength of his belief in the ability of Mr. Reynolds to judge accurately of the value of securities, then the affair, according to the attorneys who hold this view of the case, is one that rests only between that man and his own hard luck.

Said to Be Pittsburgh Manufacturer.

Other charges may be brought home to her, they declare, but in their opinion it will be somewhat difficult to punish her for forgery in connection with the Carnegie notes unless it can be shown that she endeavored to negotiate them. This, apparently, is the opinion of the Lorain county grand jury, which failed to return an indictment against her.

The loan of $800,000 said to have been received by Mrs. Chadwick in Pittsburgh, or from a man residing in that city, is declared to have been made to her by a multi-millionaire manufacturer of that city. Mrs. Chadwick, in discussing this statement, it is known, declared that she did owe him $500,000, but not $800,000, as has been claimed.

The question of the rival receivers will be settled tomorrow morning in the office of Nathan Loeser, who was appointed by the United States district court to take charge of the Chadwick securities. Receiver Herbert W. Bell, who was appointed by Judge Babcock of the common pleas court, is expected to call with his attorneys upon Receiver Loeser at that hour and withdraw from the position. Mr. Bell declared this afternoon, however, that it was not absolutely certain that he would resign. "I shall do as my attorneys think best," he declared, "but I presume the matter will be adjusted in the morning."

Preacher Feels Publicity.

Receiver Loeser is confident that he will be left, under the direction of the court, in charge of such assets as Mrs. Chadwick's estate may develop.

Dr. Charles A. Eaton, pastor of the Euclid Avenue Baptist church, whose name has been mentioned in the Chadwick case, and through whose good offices the woman managed to receive a hearing from Herbert B. Newton of Boston, occupied his pulpit as usual today. Dr. Eaton made no reference, although it had been rumored that he might do so, to the Chadwick affair. He feels keenly the publicity given his connection with the matter and heretofore has refused to make any comment.

Dr. Eaton said tonight he could best explain his connection with the matter by quoting from an interview with Banker Newton, from whom Mrs. Chadwick secured a large sum. In that statement Banker Newton told how he became financially involved, referring to the Eatons as follows:

"I believe that both Eatons acted in perfect good faith in the introduction, and that their confidences were abused as were the confidences of many other persons."

The introduction of Mrs. Chadwick to Mr. Newton referred to resulted from a letter from Dr. Eaton to his brother, John E. Eaton, who presented the woman to the Massachusetts banker.

REYNOLDS DESCRIBED AS A "HIGH ROLLER"

Cleveland Banker Who Held Chadwick "Securities" Was a Native of Syracuse.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Dec. 11.—Iri Reynolds was born and brought up in this city, where as a young man he was known as a lively youth and, in fact, is described as a "high roller" by some who knew him then. His father was in the real estate business and later became proprietor of a bowling alley. This fact did not affect the youth's position in society and he mingled his social duties with those of keeping track of the games rolled on his father's alleys.

He was regarded as an unusually bright lad, and when at the age of 25 he was offered a position in Cleveland, a rosy future was predicted. As a young man, Reynolds was known to half of Syracuse and was very popular, his good nature giving him a reputation as a "good fellow."

About four years ago he returned to Syracuse and called on many persons who knew him in the old days. He then said that he had large business dealings with the Rockefellers in Cleveland and impressed his friends as being wealthy.

BLAMES MRS. CHADWICK NO MORE THAN BANKERS

The Rev. T. N. Eaton, pastor of the South Avenue Methodist Episcopal church of Wilkinsburg, preaching last night on the moral relationship between Christians and sinners, held Mrs. C. L. Chadwick as no more to blame for the havoc wrought by her financial operations than the bankers who aimed to profit by them. He said that justification for publication of such happenings is that the public may know of them and thus guard against their recurrence.

One Man May Die as Result of Explosion in Mill—Another Is Hurt.

WHEELING, W. VA., Dec. 11.—(Special.)—John Boland and Steve Struble, employes of the Laughlin tin mill at Martins Ferry, while attempting to put out a fire around a pot of tootal where the grease had ignited, were horribly burned last night when the pot of metal and grease exploded.

The upper part of Boland's body was burned almost to a crisp, while his head was frightfully scorched. It is thought that he also inhaled the flames. Struble was also severely burned, but it is thought he will recover. Both men were removed to the Wilson hospital, and it is doubtful if Boland will live.

Former Maid Says Prisoner Was One of the Wickedest Woman Alive.

BANKERS CALLED FREQUENTLY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, Dec. 11.—"A good woman who has been maligned! Why, she is one of the wickedest women alive, and one thousandth part of her wickedness has not been told."

Thus spoke Mrs. George Somers of Lucia street tonight in reference to Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick. Mrs. Somers, who formerly was Miss D. Ella Rowe, was for years maid and companion to the notorious Mrs. Chadwick.

"Did Banker Iri Reynolds appear to be a close friend of hers?" interrogated the reporter.

She leaned back in her chair and laughed.

"I should think so," she said. "For years Iri Reynolds and Mrs. Chadwick have been as close almost as peas in a pod. On an average of two or three times a week for years he used to call at the house, frequently dining there, and most of their unusually long talks were behind the doors of her boudoir; and, if the doctor or I happened to be there, we were sent away to some other part of the mansion. But this nearly always happened when other men called on her," added Mrs. Somers.

"What do you mean?" asked the reporter.

Callers Were Mostly Men.

"Why," she said, "during the time I was with Mrs. Chadwick it was but rarely that a woman called at the house. But there was a very large number of substantial looking men who called to see her, and when I go down the street I often see them in big concerns, in banks and other places, and in their autos—and most of these men Mrs. Chadwick received in her own private rooms."

"What do you think of Iri Reynolds' connection with this case?" she was asked, and her very emphatic reply was:

"If Mrs. Chadwick did not have a very, very deep regard for Banker Reynolds, why did she go to Paris and out of her own purse expend a huge sum of money to furnish Reynolds' daughter with her wedding trosseau? I knew that this is a fact.

"As for money I believe she has enormous stores of both money and jewels. One day she showed me a lot of tin boxes filled with gold and paper money and small steel safes full of the most magnificent jewels and told me that all this wealth was just as safe and safely concealed as it would be in any bank.

"Oh! Those piercing eyes of hers," she added. "While I would be doing up her hair, I would find them reflected back at me from the mirror in a strange, fixed stare. Once I remarked to her: 'Why do you keep those eyes fixed on me so steadfastly?'

Servants Afraid of Her.

"'Because,' she said, 'I like to study your wonderful sky-blue eyes with their strange contrast to your dark hair.'

"I was never afraid of her—not in the least; but some of the servants were. One was so frightfully afraid of her that whenever Mrs. Chadwick drew near, she'd tremble from head to foot.

"'Do you believe that Mrs. Chadwick was Mme. De Vere?'

"'Do I?' exclaimed Mrs. Somers, with a laugh. 'Listen. One day when the postman left the mail, among it was a letter addressed to Mme. De Vere at our address. I took the mail up to Mrs. Chadwick and remarked to her, 'There was one left here by mistake addressed to Mme. De Vere, and I'll give it to the postman when he comes again.' She leaped to her feet and darted toward me, quivering all over, with her eyes blazing and her fists clenched.

"'Where is that letter?' she fairly shrieked, acting as though she were going to attack me.

Held High Revel.

"I held it out to her. She fiercely snatched it out of my hands and then, pointing to the door, she cried, 'mind your own business, girl; and remember that any and all mail left here comes at once to me, me, me!'

Mrs. Somers also told how prominent men came to the house and groveled at the feet of Mrs. Chadwick in an effort to get her to repay them the money they had loaned her. She also stated that Mrs. Chadwick several years ago caused a run on a savings bank here. Officials of the bank kept running to the house and Mrs. Chadwick laughed and said: "I've got that bank a little worried."

Grocer Blackwood, engaged in business on Cedar, near East Madison avenue, and who has provided provisions for the Chadwick larder, said that it has been common talk out that way, that since the second marriage of Dr. Chadwick, there has been "high doings" in the Chadwick mansion. He said that in this mansion a number of French maids are employed; "couchee-couchee" and "can-can" dances had been given there, amid high revels which had most profoundly shocked the elite of the vicinity.

PANIC AMONG IMMIGRANTS ON BELGRAVIA IN STORM

Hamburg-American Liner Is Badly Battered—Vessels Detained Outside Reach Port.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—With her bow stove in, the marine telegraph disabled and forward windlass twisted, the Belgravia of the Hamburg-American line arrived from Cux Haven today.

According to Capt. Magin, on Tuesday afternoon the Belgravia ran into a hurricane, the force of which could not be measured by the wind-registering gauge. Capt. Magin estimated that at its height there was a wind velocity of 120 miles an hour. A great wave swept over the bow of the vessel at midnight of the 6th, tearing out the shield, disabling the marine telegraph, tearing away the starboard hawser port forward and smashing the windlass. At least 1,200 of the 1,870 steerage passengers, Polish and Russian refugees, became panic stricken. It was necessary to send all officers off duty below to quiet them, and these were compelled to remain there several hours trying to reassure the frightened persons that there was no danger. As the refugees left the ship today for Ellis Island many of them showed bruises about the face and head caused when they were thrown about in the storm.

Eight steamers, including the Belgravia, Hanover, New York and Lucania, detained outside by the snowstorm yesterday, came into port today. They had 721 cabin passengers and 4,004 steerage passengers.

ANOTHER PROVERB PROBLEM TOMORROW

WOMAN WILL FACE ANDREW CARNEGIE

Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick to Make a Fight to Remain in New York.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—That Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick will remain in New York, even though she has to make a cell in the Tombs her temporary home, and that her attorneys will contest every move to take her to Cleveland to stand trial, is the most probable forecast of events to come in the immediate future in her case.

It is equally probable that if she continue to refuse to waive examination, which would at once enable her to leave here, she will have to face Andrew Carnegie on the witness stand on Saturday, the day set for her hearing. The disclosure of the "Carnegie" trust agreement more than ever makes it probable that Mr. Carnegie's testimony will be an important factor in the prosecution of the woman.

"We are advising her to remain here, as her counsel in Cleveland also advises," said Philip Carpenter, her principal legal representative in New York, "but she is a strong-minded woman and at any moment may decide the whole question for herself."

For the first time today since her troubles came crowding upon her, Mrs. Chadwick had a day free from consultations with attorneys. Because of a rule forbidding visitors on Sunday, neither her son Emil nor her maid Freda saw her.

Mrs. Chadwick's condition was apparently greatly improved today. She ate heartily of three meals that were served to her by the "Tombs Delmonico," and seemed to have recovered entirely from her extreme nervousness. She took no part in the religious services held in the prison and spent most of the day in deep thought. The special watch over was kept up.

One of the interesting possibilities in the case was developed by a statement tonight by United States District Attorney Burnett that in view of facts regarding Mrs. Chadwick which have been learned since her arrest, notable among which is the discovery that her $5,000,000 securities were purely mythical, the amount of bail may be largely increased in case a move is made to free her temporarily by that means.

RUSSIAN RIOT AGAINST WAR

lowed to go quietly home, the wounded first having their injuries dressed. There were probably a hundred broken heads and several were severely wounded, though none fatally, so far as is ascertainable. So far there have been over 100 arrests.

The ferment continued all day and far into the night, but only one or two other abortive attempts were made at demonstrations, the police being in such force that they had no difficulty in seizing the ringleaders, no resistance being made in any case.

Tonight the students of the Politechnique and other institutes held meetings, at which fiery speeches were made in favor of reform and the convocation of a national assembly.

The greatest distress is expressed by conservative Liberals over the day's events, all declaring that just when the fate of the zemstvo program was in the balance such a fruitless outbreak will be sure to prejudice every observer and put the strongest weapon in the hand of the bureaucratic reactionaries.

ROOSEVELT'S MAJORITY NOW REACHES 2,546,169

He Polled Largest Vote Ever Cast for a President—Large Gain by Socialists.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—A canvass by the New York Times of the popular vote at the late presidential election, complete except as to one county in Tennessee and four counties in Michigan, for which estimates are given, shows that President Roosevelt defeated Judge Parker by 2,546,169 votes. He polled the largest vote ever given for a president of the United States—7,040,560. This is more than 400,000 in excess of the vote cast for McKinley in 1900.

The official figures for Missouri show that Roosevelt carried that state by 25,000 votes. In Maryland one Republican elector received the largest vote, but his colleagues were defeated. The Democrats of Maryland will, therefore, have seven votes in the electoral college, while the Republicans will have but one.

A comparison with the popular vote table of 1900 shows a marked change in the Socialist vote. Debs, the candidate of the party that year, was also the candidate this year and his vote shows an increase of more than 300,000. Watson, the Populist candidate, ran strongest in his own state, Georgia, where he received 22,635 votes. He received most of his votes in the south and west, but only one was cast for him in South Carolina.

The total vote is given as 13,534,113, and that for each of the presidential candidates is given as follows: Roosevelt, Republican, 7,640,560; Parker, Democrat, 5,094,391; Debs, Socialist, 392,857; Swallow, Prohibition, 248,411; Watson, Populist, 124,381, and Corregan, Socialist-Labor, 33,519.

The electoral vote will be 336 for Roosevelt and 140 for Parker.

HORRIBLE SHOCK TO DR. CHADWICK

Physician Says He Had No Intimation of Wife's Business Connections.

IS INTERVIEWED IN PARIS

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PARIS, Dec. 11.—Dr. Leroy S. Chadwick, husband of Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick, was interviewed in a Paris hotel today. The interview includes the following:

"Did you leave America because you knew the transactions charged against your wife were about to be ventilated."

"No; I had not the slightest intimation that my wife had any such business connections," replied Mr. Chadwick. "All these accusations came as a horrible shock. But, after all, I know only what I read in the newspapers."

"Have you any idea why your wife used Andrew Carnegie's name instead of that of other immensely wealthy men, such as Rockefeller or Morgan? Does she know Mr. Carnegie?"

"As far as I know she does not know the famous Carnegie and has never met him. But I believe she simply negotiated paper which she believed to be good. I notice that the Paris newspapers are trying to draw an analogy between Mrs. Chadwick and Mme. Humbert. That is impossible. The Humbert woman deliberately defrauded people. All this is a stunning blow to me," he continued. "I was absolutely without an inkling of such doings as my wife is accused of.

"She in no way needed money. My daughter Mary, who is with me, is nine years of age, and so fully appreciates what all this means to me. Like me, she is greatly shocked by the newspaper reports, nor can she understand why Andrew Carnegie's name figures so largely. I saw my wife just prior to November 15. She gave me no sign of being engaged in any unusual or large business transactions."

"Did your daughter last month cable Iri Reynolds, the Cleveland banker, asking him for money?"

"That is something I will not deny or affirm," answered Dr. Chadwick. "If Reynolds wishes to talk about the incident he can."

He refused to answer more questions, saying finally:

"Let me sleep on all this. I do not believe in talking when I do not know where I am. But if I determine to make a fuller statement I will send you word."

Dr. Chadwick and his daughter are now going to the Riviera, as has been reported.

The correspondent describes Dr. Chadwick as a young looking man, whom he saw by appointment. The doctor, according to the story, asked the correspondent not to give the name of the hotel at which he was stopping.

CRITICISM NOT JUSTIFIED.

Andrew D. White's Statements About President Roosevelt Not Borne Out by the Facts.

OTTAWA, ONT., Dec. 11.—(Special.)—The criticism passed upon President Roosevelt by Andrew D. White, former United States ambassador to Germany, in an address before the League for Political Education, namely, that the president "secured commutation of the sentence" of Edward Slaughter, son of a colored Baptist minister of Essex county, Ontario, is not justified by the facts, as ascertained at the justice department.

It is true that a letter signed by the president and asking the executive to take into consideration the petition for commutation signed by many residents of Essex county, was laid before the minister of justice by the United States consul general, Foster. But Slaughter was saved from the gallows by the representations of Judge Teetzel, who had sentenced him upon the finding of the jury.

USE GAS INSTEAD OF THE NOOSE

Legislature Will Be Asked to Change the Method of Capital Punishment.

DEATH WOULD BE PAINLESS

Legislation to make the hangman's noose and the gallows relics of barbarism will find its way into the Pennsylvania legislature this session. Should the proposition of the medical fraternity be enacted into law, the murderer will be sent to his eternal reward by the use of carbonic acid gas.

It is not a new idea so far as the men of medicine are concerned. They have given it much thought and by experimenting with animals have demonstrated that a painless death is assured. The plan of supplanting the gallows and the guillotine by the use of carbon dioxide has been discussed and studied by the physicians and surgeons in every part of the civilized world. So far not a word of criticism has been uttered.

Dr. A. V. Chessrown, who has been physician at the Allegheny county jail for years and has had much opportunity to study death on the gallows and its effect on society, was the pioneer in the movement to find a more humane method of taking life. For a long time he has been advocating the use of carbonic acid.

Physicians Favor the Plan.

A number of years ago Dr. Chessrown brought the subject to the attention of the Allegheny County Medical society. With the late Dr. Murdoch and Dr. C. C. Lang he was named on a committee to make a thorough study of the matter. After the death of Dr. Murdoch, Drs. Chessrown and Lang continued their experiments. They also interested the National Medical society, and through it every association in the United States and throughout the civilized world was induced to study the proposition.

From medical journals in all parts of the world Dr. Chessrown has received commendation. He believes the time is ripe to take some active step toward securing a change in the law so as to permit the new method of administering capital punishment.

"I expect to be able to interest some member of the legislature," said he, "and hope to have a bill introduced at the approaching session. I can see no reason why any lawmaker should object to the proposition. It is a step that must be taken sooner or later and I would be pleased to see Pennsylvania lead the procession in forever banishing the noose and the gallows as the method of capital punishment. Hanging is a relic of barbarism with which we could well dispense.

Innocent Suffer.

"None but physicians fully realize the awful effect executions have upon some women and children. In every community there are women who suffer untold anguish for days previous and preceding a hanging. They do not know the murderer and they are not even familiar with his crime but the simple announcement that an execution is to occur causes a nervous condition which is difficult to relieve. I have had dozens of cases in my practice and the statistics I have gathered show they exist in all parts of the world.

"Statistics also prove that hangings are quite often followed by murders in the community where the execution took place. It was only a short time ago that I received a medical journal published in Kansas. It told of a public hanging and of three murders which occurred the same day, the crimes being committed by men who had witnessed the execution. We have illustrations of this in our county. Many men have been sent to the gallows here in recent years, yet the number of murders is steadily increasing. I believe that 48 murders have been committed this year in the county.

How Gas Would Be Used.

"By the use of carbonic acid gas the murderer could be put out of this world without any of the ghastly details which attend death by hanging. Life for life would be given and the innocent would not need to suffer. The idea that the awfulness of death on the scaffold will scare evil-doers into right living is a mistake.

"Under the new method of administering the death penalty, the condemned would not need to know the exact hour he is to give his life in payment for the crime. The governor could issue his warrant fixing a time limit in which the execution is to occur. Within the period the gas could be turned into the room where the condemned is sleeping and within three minutes the murderer will have passed to another world. Death would be painless.

"I believe it would be better to have the death penalty administered in the penitentiaries of the state. This would be a further protection to society, as the criminal would be removed from the scenes of his crime and relieve the community. In the big prisons proper quarters could be set aside for the condemned and the gas could be administered by experts. In my experiments I have found that the cost is trifling. One tank of carbonic acid gas, costing $2, would be more than enough to take human life."

B. & O.'S NEW BUILDING.

Competitive Plans Being Drawn for Handsome Structure Which Will Be Erected in Baltimore.

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad has established a mixed competition for the purpose of selecting an architect for the proposed new office building at the northwest corner of Baltimore and Charles streets, Baltimore. A committee consisting of the president, three vice presidents and chief engineer, with Prof. William R. Ware as its advisor, will make the award, and six firms of architects have been selected, who will be paid for drawing designs for the building to be submitted in the competition, but about 30 will have an opportunity of drawing plans.

The general plan of the building provides for a structure of 155x168 feet and 13 stories high. Each floor will have approximately 13,500 square feet of surface, making a building with a total floor space of nearly four acres. The offices will be provided with all the latest improvements in modern office buildings, and it is the intention of the company to build a structure that will provide for its necessities for many years to come. It is expected that the committee on award will begin its work about January 12.

COULDN'T DISGORGE.

Had No Money When James Miner Pulled a Revolver on Him.

James Miner is locked up in the Franks-town avenue police station as a suspicious person, accused of using a most violent method of collecting debts. Henry Anderson says he will make information today, charging Miner with trying to rob him at the end of a pistol.

Anderson says he and Miner worked for a contractor and Miner, believing that Anderson had been paid, got him into his house, pulled a pistol on him, made him get down on his knees and turn out his pockets.

Miner says he was informed Anderson was paid and that he pointed an unloaded revolver in fun, believing Anderson had the money in his pocket. Anderson had no money with him. Both are negroes.

BIG POLES FELL.

Telephone Communication and Street Railway Traffic Stopped in Allegheny.

Two poles carrying a large number of telephone and telegraph wires fell yesterday morning in Allegheny avenue, near Pennsylvania avenue, Allegheny. In falling the poles tore down the trolley wires for almost a block and tied up street railway traffic for more than two hours. The dwelling of David Byers, at 1515 Allegheny avenue, was damaged by one of the poles crashing through the roof. No one was injured.

It is supposed the poles had rotted near the base and the addition of several cross-trees and some wires of late made the weight too great. Telephone communication with lower Allegheny was almost entirely stopped yesterday while repairs were being made.

FATHER HICKEY PASSING AWAY

Long and Active Career of the Venerable Roman Catholic Clergyman.

SCHWAB BUILT HIM A CHURCH

The Very Rev. Father John Hickey, rector of St. Thomas' church, Braddock, and dean of Catholic priests in the Pittsburgh diocese, is at the point of death in his parish house. He has been in ill health, due to general debility, for some time, and on Friday last suffered a relapse, sinking rapidly since.

Father Hickey was born in the city of Kilkenny, Ireland, on November 11, 1834, and came to this country with his parents in 1846. Two years later he entered St. Michael's seminary, then in Glenwood, but owing to failing health gave up his studies shortly after and made his home with an uncle, the Rev. Joseph Cody, in Sugar Creek, Armstrong county. He remained there until the winter of 1851, when, under the advice of the Rt. Rev. Michael O'Connor, then bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese, he entered St. Vincent college at Beatty, Pa. On January 22, 1852, he entered Mt. St. Mary's college at Emmitsburg, Md., where he was graduated with the degree of A. M. in

The Rev. Father John Hickey.

June, 1855. After a theological course of three years at Mt. St. Mary's college he was ordained by Bishop O'Connor in St. Paul's cathedral, Pittsburgh, on August 15, 1858.

In September of the same year Father Hickey was recalled to his alma mater as professor of belles lettres, which position he held one year, when, on the resignation of Dr. O'Connor in 1860, he was appointed assistant professor in St. Michael's seminary at Glenwood. In 1862 he took temporary charge of a church at Freeport, Armstrong county, and on January 6, 1863, became rector of St. Paul's cathedral, Pittsburgh. While there he completed the cathedral building, erected the episcopal residence, established the parishes of St. Malachy and St. Agnes in Pittsburgh, and St. James in Wilkinsburg, founded an orphanage for 600 children at Mt. Savage, Md., and built a stone church for colored worshipers in Mechanicsburg, Pa. He remained in charge of St. Paul's cathedral until 1877, at the same time filling the office of vicar general of the diocese.

In 1879 he visited Rome and other parts of Europe. While in Rome he was tendered by Pope Leo XIII. the choice of any parish in the Pittsburgh diocese, and selected the Braddock charge. He returned in March, 1882, and took charge of the congregation of St. Michael's church.

In 1883 he built a large school house and has since been given a handsome church by Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Schwab, which was dedicated a year ago. The church was given Father Hickey as evidence of the regard Mr. and Mrs. Schwab had for him. He officiated at their marriage. He was active on behalf of the workingmen in labor troubles and secured many concessions for them during the Homestead strike. At the same time he became acquainted with and secured the friendship of Andrew Carnegie.

ANOTHER TALL SYCAMORE FROM WABASH COUNTRY

Lengthy Man from Jeffersonville Caused Amazement Among the Travelers at the Union Station.

"He's the tallest man in the world."

"I wonder if he's eight feet?"

"Fairbanks wouldn't reach his shoulders."

"I wouldn't want the job of filling his Christmas stocking."

While the passengers on the St. Louis Limited at the Union station last night were making these remarks, Amos Benjamin of Jeffersonville, Ind., who was the cause of their wonderment, paced up and down the platform, taking his steps five feet at a stride. His black slouch hat was almost level with the tops of the windows in the Pullman cars, beside which he took his promenade. He seemed utterly oblivious of the curiosity which his excessive height evoked among his fellow passengers.

"I never tell people my height," said Mr. Benjamin. "I always leave them to guess that, and they usually add two or three inches which I have not attained. After a man passes six feet four an additional inch makes a big difference. I do not call myself tall. When people make any remark about it, I tell them they are short."

SCARCITY OF WATER CAUSES DELAY OF TRAINS

The operation of trains was seriously impeded yesterday owing to the scarcity of water. Dry weather is responsible for a shortage of water in both track troughs and the ordinary roadside tanks. Freight trains have been delayed and in consequence passenger traffic has been obstructed. If the drought continues the railroads will face a serious difficulty.

Men's Raincoats—A Suggestion.

Most any young man would thank his father or elder brother for a new Raincoat at Christmas. But let it be a good coat that he'll continue to feel satisfaction in all the rest of the year. Say one of our Totally Different Sort. We know that would please him, because it has pleased so many before him. In fact we never had a purchaser of one of our raincoats who had any fault to find with the way it wore, the way it fitted or the style of it.

Our Raincoats are just like all the rest of the clothing we sell—first-class in every particular, inside and outside, of best material, well cut, well trimmed, well made and altogether nobby.

They start at $16.50 and run up to $30.00.

Special Values From the Velvet Section.

Women who are handy with the needle can find in the three following numbers splendid opportunity to give a nice Christmas present at a small cost:

Although Maryland Republicans are dissatisfied with the result of the election in that state, which chose only one Roosevelt elector, they have concluded that a contest is not desirable, especially as the president has votes to spare. Instead of disputing the returns, the party chairman will appeal to the voters in favor of a better law than the one devised to confuse voters in the interest of the Democratic party. In this way he hopes to elect a Republican legislature to improve the law, which imposes especial conditions in certain counties.

It seems likely that another session will be called of the joint high commission, composed of representatives from Canada and the United States. Two meetings have already been held and at the last the body disagreed on the Alaska boundary dispute, which has since been decided in our favor. Several minor matters were pending, but a settlement of these would be easy. The points most pressing today are those of reciprocity with Canada and fishing agreements. Senator Fairbanks is chairman and he might preside if the meeting was held early in the year. The prospect of any agreement upon reciprocity is not good, but there appears to be sufficient interest in the subject to warrant consideration.

Well authenticated reports from Port Arthur leave no room to doubt that the occupation of 203-Metre hill has enabled the Japanese to put the Russian battleships and cruisers in the harbor out of commission. The smaller craft, such as gunboats, torpedo-boat destroyers and torpedo boats, are able to shelter themselves behind the land elevations, apparently, and have thus escaped the destructive fire. It is not in the least likely, however, that any of them will ever join the squadrons recently sent from the Baltic. The blockade is formidable, and if the new fleets once get into Asiatic waters the Japanese will work more vigorously. At present they appear to be conducting the siege in a quite leisurely manner. They are, as the world has seen, capable of the most desperate work in an emergency.

There is good reason for the position taken by the Pennsylvania members of congress to demand fair play for the rivers of the state—the Delaware, Ohio, Monongahela and Allegheny. The port of Philadelphia is one of the most important in the country, and it is entitled to a 35-foot channel from the sea. The Ohio, despite difficulties, carries a large traffic. Made permanently navigable that traffic will be greatly increased. Given a 9-foot channel it will become, in connection with the Panama canal, one of the principal arteries of commerce on the continent, extending its benefits to the remotest portions of the country. The appropriations asked by the Pennsylvania delegation for the rivers of the state are just claims, moderate as the necessity for economy in expenditures suggests, and every dollar should be allowed.

When the reports of the surgeons in the present war are published there are likely to be some surprising instances recorded of recovery from bullet wounds. Already medical men on the Russian side report that the Japanese bullets are "merciful" in that recoveries are made from wounds once considered necessarily fatal. Formerly soldiers whose brains or intestines were pierced were considered mortally wounded, but the small, swift missiles now used will pass completely through the head and the man will recover so as to be able to resume his place in the regiment. Little is said, however, of the deadliness of artillery missiles and it is generally understood that they are very destructive. But when account is made of the superior facilities for caring for the wounded, combined with the surgical advances that insure recovery, this war promises to be notable in the world's history.

E. P. Bacon, chairman of the executive committee of the Interstate Law association, recently presented arguments to the committee on interstate and foreign commerce in support of the amendments proposed to make the interstate law effective. Mr. Bacon called particular attention to the fact that the existing law obviously intended to empower the commission to do the things that the amendments will enable it to do. The language of the act, however, conferred power to determine, with none to enforce its determination. The amendments are essential to give force to the commission's verdicts after investigation, and it is a mere farce to maintain the law without any power for its enforcement. Mr. Bacon's arguments embody the conclusions of the Interstate Law convention at St. Louis and are entirely logical. There is nothing in the proposed amendments inimical to the legitimate interests of the railroads and at least some of them favor their enactment.

A clerk in the Altoona office of a coal mining company was overpowered on Saturday, securely bound and gagged, and his assailants made off with the payroll for the Lilly mine, aggregating more than $2,000. Heretofore the robbers have been content to lie in wait for the paymaster. Recently precautions have been taken to guard the paymasters and the attack was turned, in this case, upon the home office, which was unprotected. The logical deduction from events of the past two years is that it has become hazardous to make up large cash payrolls. Some years ago the Pennsylvania railroad adopted the system of paying by checks. Other companies should follow that example, at least until the state establishes a police system that will promise a fair measure of protection. It is not feasible to protect individual paymasters at state expense, but an effective state constabulary will restore safe conditions which were the rule in Pennsylvania until recent years.

A Proper Quietus.

President Roosevelt has permitted the announcement to be made through his intimate friends that he does not contemplate calling an extra session of congress next spring to revise the tariff. It is understood that he personally favors alteration of some schedules and that he may decide to call the Fifty-ninth congress in special session some time in advance of the regular meeting in December to consider such changes. The new congress was elected with the president on the Chicago platform, so its action, if any, will be on the lines there laid down and will not permit of general revision or wholesale disturbance of business conditions. The Gazette is thus far in full sympathy with the attitude of President Roosevelt, its position having been clearly defined on Saturday morning. It is the logical interpretation of the Republican platform adopted at Chicago and the result of the campaign conducted on those lines.

Opening the Primaries.

Revision of the rule affecting party regularity is now practically certain. It was the opinion of all present at the conference on Saturday that a mistake had been made by the Republican city committee in excluding from the January primaries any persons who voted the Republican ticket in November and who will then declare their intention to vote in February for the Republican nominees. This is the view taken by The Gazette in the beginning, and it is glad to note the call for a meeting of the Republican city committee tomorrow.

A new element is injected into the situation by the suggestion that the city and county rules be made uniform. This is a good idea. Difference in the rules of the several cities and between all of them and those of the county organization tends only to cause confusion. The same rules are applicable to all, the city committees are tributary to the county committee and through it to the state committee, so uniform rules appear to be wholly desirable. As matters stand at the moment one qualification is required by the Allegheny City organization, another by the Pittsburgh city rules and a third by the Allegheny county committee. The Allegheny City and the county rules differ but little and the probable action of the Pittsburgh city committee today will bring it into line, where it should be.

The Way to Stop It.

In a speech made in South Carolina just before the meeting of congress, Representative Williams of Mississippi reviewed the causes of Democratic defeat. He said: "In my deliberate opinion, the Statesboro, Ga., affair cost the south the sympathy of a quarter or half a million votes throughout this country." He swept aside all excuses, pointing out that while mob attacks upon negroes in the north and west could be instanced, at least the officers of the law tried to do their duty, but at Statesboro there was no evidence of any attempt to do so. Nor can it be urged that there was any cause for fear of the failure of justice, as the prisoners had been tried and convicted. Mr. Williams concluded with the declaration that "as a southerner of the southerners, according to the straightest of my sect, I feel it my duty to say to a southern audience that things like the Statesboro affair must stop."

Mr. Williams' candor is altogether creditable to him, but it needed election results to point the moral which he tried to impress. Not only political influence, but economic reasons are now at work to secure to the negroes the protection of the laws. In Mr. Williams' own state the sport of negro baiting has been so popular that the planting interests have begun to suffer, and the necessity of doing something has been forced upon the state authorities. A grand jury in Lincoln county has gone energetically to work to suppress the whitecapping which has been going on in that region for two years. That the proceeding means business is shown by the fact a member of the legislature and two county officials are among those indicted, and that several hundred persons in all will be indicted for participation in the outrages.

When a community arrives at the determination to inflict severe punishment for this class of offenses they will cease, but not before. The spectacle of one waite man hung for killing a negro will contain more admonition than all the sermons which Mr. Williams or other mentors of the southern people can preach.

The Way of the Transgressor.

Whatever temporary success Mrs. Chadwick may have had in extorting money by false representations, she seems to be approaching the end of this stage in her career as an adventuress and the philosophical man may well ask what she has gained by it all. There may be something fascinating in the exercise of such cunning and daring and the harvest it produces of apparent reward, but the day of reckoning has apparently come, when she cannot enjoy the use of the gain she made and has only the mental torture that must follow such a career, no matter how hardened the conscience may have become. There might have been a satisfaction in the consciousness of ability to borrow large sums by evading the safeguards the average money lenders employ, but when the wealth has vanished nothing will remain, not even pleasant recollections of the luxurious ease which money made possible.

Perhaps it will be claimed that Mrs. Chadwick was mentally diseased, for it is difficult to account in any other way for the enormous scale of her operations, but not all abnormal conditions are insanity. The avenues leading to wealth are always open and the aspirant must decide whether the road he selects leads to irretrievable ruin or permanent success. Many of these openings to riches do not involve direct dishonesty, but are merely attended with great uncertainty. But there are some in each generation to try all these roads and the enormity of the plan sometimes succeeds. It is usually this desire to acquire rather than a criminal instinct that leads to all large thefts, for the offenders merely suffer from a lack of moral character.

But the lesson in every case is that the transgressor will at last be discovered and the ill-gotten gains prove worthless. For years the Humberts were able to borrow money on a fictitious legacy and so well contrived was their scheme that they deceived one of the most powerful banks in the world. No doubt they congratulated themselves during their prosperous days on the success of the deception, before which some of the mightiest men in finance fell. Wealth brought them not only a luxurious life, but social influence as well, and for a brief period they were the envy of the French capital. But a day of reckoning, which awaited them from the first, finally overtook them and the bubble burst, sending them to prison as common offenders.

The certainty of the ruin that confronts the offender raises the question whether, after all, it pays to succeed in wrong-doing, aside from the mere question of morality. Would any swindler undertake the course he followed if he could have a foretaste of the end of his dishonest career? That the offense will finally be revealed is as certain as the prospect of death in this world, for there has never been a flagrant swindle perpetrated that did not come to light. Sometimes men are able to steal and replace the money before the discovery and in other cases death may come first, but there is always a reckoning in this world. The consequences in technical punishment may be avoided, but that can hardly relieve the weight of guilt which has driven thousands of exiles back to the scene of the crime to ask that the course of the law may be applied to them.

Teachers' Salaries.

While the scheme prepared by the committee of the central board does not allow nearly the salaries asked by the teachers' committee, it contains at least one feature that is wholly commendable. That is the rating of teachers by efficiency rather than term of service. Term of service is prima facie evidence of proficiency, other things being equal, but it is realized that circumstances alter cases. The teacher who works hard gets more from given experience than the one who seeks pleasure only out of working hours. The basis of the plea for higher salaries was that it was necessary to enable teachers to improve themselves and their work. The report of the salaries committee not only recognizes this fact, but makes it an object for every teacher to so employ the additional compensation.

No doubt the teachers will feel disappointed at not receiving a larger concession than the committee recommends, but they may console themselves with the thought that having opened the way the future may bring them another advance when the public is convinced that it is the right thing to do. The report of the committee points in the proper direction, both in recognizing the need for higher salaries and putting promotion on the ground of efficiency alone. Tenure of position should also rest upon the same basis. The teacher who is faithful and competent should never be in doubt about the continuance of employment; but the unfit should not be retained until age is a reasonable bar to securing other work. In this matter the standard is not different from that which should obtain in other fields of effort. Competence and fidelity may reasonably be expected by every employer, and if these qualities are lacking it will always be advantageous for both parties to have the contract terminated before there are other complications.

Germany is worrying again about the "American peril." This time it is a fear that Pierpont Morgan is going to gobble all the works of art in Europe. They seem to think it impossible to overrate the Morgan wealth.

That should be an interesting opinion from the city solicitor on the power of the city to revoke franchises of corporations which do not meet their obligations to the public.

While the weather bureau at Washington does better than the long-distance prophets, the unforecasted weather continues to form an important factor in the whole.

Director Moore follows an unworthy precedent when he construes the wheel guard on the Pittsburgh street cars to be a fender.

Banker Newton declares himself ready to forgive Mrs. Chadwick, and it may be assumed he would forget if he could.

Robbery is too easy. It would be less attractive if there were more certainty of capture and punishment.

Opinion is not wanting that Gov. Douglas aspires too high in the matter of his state militia.

It is an open question whether the teachers will be satisfied with their Christmas gift.

Mrs. Chadwick appears to have beaten what the brokers call the "shoe string game."

Old-fashioned winters are less popular than when they were rare.

Gen. Miles retired continues to raise military problems.

Brutal Punishment.

Everyone admits the failure of the law to punish adequately in brutal cases of wife-beating. The penalties are apparently defective and ineffective in respect to many other offenses. Without hard labor a local jail sentence is often a coddling of the offender, something to be desired rather than feared. But is the cure to be found in a reversion to the punishments of an earlier stage of civilization? It is said that the ruffian, rewarded with a jail sentence for brutality, is encouraged to be brutal again. Is he rendered less brutal or less murderous in disposition and tendency if he is sent back to his family with his back mangled in bloody welts? Brutality has always appeared to flourish most where crimes of brutality have been most brutally punished. Instead of serving as a deterring example and instead of driving out from man's disposition his brutal tendencies the spectacle of the bloody, quivering flesh of the victim of the lash has apparently had of itself a hardening, brutalizing effect upon the people of the community. Most cases of monstrous cruelty on the part of adults, including those that take the shape of wife-beating, are due to the maddening effects of whisky. Applying the lash to the drunkard's back will obviously fail to strike at the root of this evil.—Washington Star.

Talked of in Gotham

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—With the coming of the cold weather the New York hospitals are always taxed to their extreme capacity, and this year it is found necessary to make some additional provision for caring for the poor who depend upon the free institutions when they become ill. Bellevue now has 850 patients, and will be able to care for more only when some of those already in the hospital are discharged. The situation will be helped in some measure within a couple of months, as the board of estimate has appropriated $15,000 with which to build four pavilions which will accommodate 25 patients each, and these pavilions will be ready for occupancy by February 1 at the latest. These pavilions are to be temporary structures, built of wood and only one story in height, but they will relieve the congestion in the hospital proper and will greatly facilitate the work of the hospital officials. At present it is sometimes found necessary to discharge patients from Bellevue before all danger of a relapse is passed, and many of these patients are brought back for a longer siege of illness, occasionally resulting in death. What is really needed is an entire new hospital building for Bellevue, but as the estimated cost is between $9,000,000 and $15,000,000, the city officials are loathe to undertake the improvement at the present time, and the city debt is now near the limit allowed by law. It is felt that the temporary pavilions will solve the problem for the present and tide the hospital over until the city finances are in better shape. The present hospital situation is not the result of any epidemic, or marked prevalence of disease, but is the natural condition that comes with winter. All the hospitals in the city are crowded during the winter months because of the number of pulmonary cases, and the condition will never be entirely overcome until the city is in a position to rebuild and greatly enlarge Bellevue, or other hospitals are built with private endowment.

Present Weather Is Ideal.

One would imagine that the present weather in New York would be conducive to the good health of the city rather than otherwise. It is perfectly seasonable, crisp and cold, clear skies and bright sunshine. A walk through the park is as good as a tonic. It is the lack of proper food and clothing that is filling the hospitals. Down in the tenement districts where coal is purchased by the bucketful at prices that would stagger an ordinarily rich man were he to pay a similar price by the ton, there is much suffering from cold, and this results in many trips to the hospital. Pride keeps many a man from admitting he cannot properly care for his family, and the number of fraudulent cases that come before the charitable institutions also keeps the honest man from admitting his real condition. Thus children are made to suffer, and with the cold comes pneumonia and kindred ills. There is not a case of genuine poverty in the city that would not be quickly relieved if it were brought to the attention of the charitable societies, but there are hundreds of cases every week of which none of these organizations ever hear.

Driven Forth by the Storm.

Such a storm as raged yesterday brings scores of cases to the attention of the Society for the Improvement of the Poor. Victims of poverty can exist after a fashion when the weather is warm, but it is a difficult task to fight the poverty with the elements as an ally against them. One particularly trying case came to the surface yesterday. Two little children went to the society's rooms for relief. "Our father is in the hospital, and mother is ill. She has a little baby, a new one," they said, "and we have nothing to eat and no fire." Immediate relief was given and the story the children told was found to be true in every detail. And this is only a sample case. The hard work of the society is just beginning. Hundreds of families will be able to tide over the first few weeks of the winter, but in January they will be compelled to seek charity.

Church Celebrates 160th Anniversary.

We are yet a very young people and when an organization celebrates its 160th anniversary it is worthy of passing notice. The First Baptist church at Seventy-ninth street and Broadway was organized 160 years ago, and today began a proper celebration of the anniversary. This morning the pastor preached an historical sermon and this evening he talked about "What the Church Stands For." Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday receptions will be held and Thursday evening a special program will take the place of the usual weekly prayer service. The church as an organization has many things for which to be thankful, and the members are giving this anniversary celebration their undivided enthusiasm.

Tribute to Retiring Pastor.

Brooklyn being the "City of Churches," ministers of the gospel are apparently thoroughly appreciated on that side of the bridge, the Rev. Dr. Thomas B. McLeod, pastor of the Clinton Avenue Congregational church for the past 25 years, retiring this week. The congregation was loathe to see him go, but when he declined to remain the father of their little flock, the members of the church cast about for a suitable testimonial of their appreciation of his quarter of a century of labor. A fund was decided upon that would be sufficient to keep him and his good wife in comfort for the balance of their lives. The plan was received with enthusiasm, and a purse of $20,000 was quickly made up. This, together with a gold watch for the pastor and a Persian-lamb coat for his wife, made a gift that would prove to any man that he is leaving behind true friends. There were 225 contributors, and 225 such friends are worth working 25 years to win.

Rikers Island Has Grown.

Within the bulkhead which retains the newly made land on Rikers island will be deposited this week the last scow-loads of ashes and earth collected by the department of street cleaning required to complete the improvement of the island, as planned by Col. George A. Waring. If Mayor McClellan and his associates in the board of estimate adopt plans to be submitted to them soon, a new "fill" on the east shore of the island is to begin, and when this work is completed the size of the present island will be increased by 200 acres. The original size of the island was 87½ acres. By the work just completed 83½ acres have been added. The 200 acres which it is now proposed to add will increase it further to 351, practically five times its original size. Dr. Woodbury, commissioner of street cleaning, believes the island, when completed, will provide an excellent site for the various institutions under the charge of the department of corrections, most of which are now on Blackwells island.

The Solid South.

There is one sufficient reason why all the activity of the gentlemen now so hustling with reduction bills will come to nothing. The "solid south" is a great help to the Republicans. It is a definite political advantage to them. They may threaten, but they will not do anything. They are perfectly contented with the present state of things. A reasonably solid north is enough for them.—New York Sun.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Do you like cold weather?

You may not love it, or dote on it, but you should like it, for if you don't you will suffer a whole lot of unnecessary discomfort.

Knowing that the winter must and will come, just as surely as the good summer time, you will prepare for it if you have a grain of wisdom or a thimbleful of common sense.

And then the autumnal cooling down from summer heat gives you sufficient warning to prepare for the promised frosts and snows and ice.

Winter is a season of rest, and appears to have been so intended by the Creator, but some of us think we improve on that idea, and we go forth to work and to labor and to boom business instead of taking things as we should.

Those of us who become too defiant of the law in the case are found limping and lame from chilblains, rheumatic joints and impaired respiratory apparatus, besides having suffered severely from nipped ears, frosted noses and cold fingers.

Pride and greed is at the bottom of these discomforts, but somehow we prefer to be the dupes of these miserable agents, even when comfort beckons us to follow along her cheerful ways.

* * * * *

The touch of real winter that is upon us just now will cause much suffering, nearly all of which should have been avoided, and it could have been had those who suffer exercised their common sense, even though of the most indifferent quality.

With plenty of work and good pay there is hardly any excuse for families being without food and fuel. Woodchucks, chipmunks, squirrels and birds have done better—much better. They fatted themselves when conditions were more favorable, worked industriously during the nut and grain harvest, and made for themselves comfortable beds of leaves and moss, so that when the windy, wintry weather came they could retire to their cozy corners and snooze and nibble and while away the time until the dawning of spring.

Is it not a little rough on men that they, with all their boasted intelligence and their great superiority over the rest of the animal kingdom, cannot, or will not, or at least do not exhibit as good sense and judgment as do the animals that winter with us?

Truly, man is freakish. And he manifests his freakishness in such a variety of ways that he is full worthy of being termed a phenomenon.

And so inexcusable are the phases of his conduct which lead to discomfort, suffering and even to death that it is no wonder the philosopher turns away from suffering mankind in pity rather than with sympathy.

* * * * *

Who is to blame for all of the want and discomfort and suffering of mankind?

Surely the Creator is not, for He gave unto man intelligence, reason and the right to choose of all the good things in the garden of earth, only forbidding the improper, harmful, sinful use of any of these.

Proper use of anything and everything on this earth will yield comfort and pleasure, and tend to a more perfect development of the image of God in man.

May we not then, in reason ask who is to blame for the discomforts, the sufferings and the sins of which we so loudly and bitterly complain?

That it is possible to eliminate much of this from any community is being demonstrated in many places, and in many ways, showing that the blame rests with those whom the masses regard as leaders, and from whom they have a right to expect instruction and suggestions as to correct habits and manners of life.

The results, as shown in the lives and conduct of the masses, indicate that instead of being fed on the bread of life they have been given husks and straws to eat, polluted waters to drink and foul air to breathe.

Costly churches, elaborately constructed school houses and high-salaried preachers and teachers have not, and never can, remedy the evil. On the contrary these seem now, as they ever have, to increase rather than to diminish the trouble by widening the chasm between the classes known as the rich and the poor.

* * * * *

Have you ever visited East Aurora, the home of the Royerofters?

It is worth a visit, not merely for the novelty of it, but for what you may learn. And if you are at all interested in the matter of true and proper socialism you will find much there that is worth while by way of instruction and suggestion.

The town of East Aurora is not much different from many other towns of 2,500 inhabitants, as towns go. It is old, quite old, having passed the century mark some time ago. Its main street, a mile and a third long, is straight and level, and for its whole length is bordered by sawed-stone sidewalks and shaded by stately elms, some of which were there before the coming of the white man.

You may not be able to find it on the map, for somehow or another map-makers seem to have forgotten it, or overlooked it until it had become too large and too well known to be ignored.

It is located 17 miles out from Buffalo on the road to Olean, or, as shown by recent maps, Buffalo is situated half-way between East Aurora and Niagara Falls. Buffalo is rather inclined to resent this way of putting it, but such are the absolute geographical facts, so to speak.

Aside from the Roycroft shops there is not much that is unusual about East Aurora, unless it be the famous Hamlin horse farm and stables, but these will not be there long after the beginning of the year, as all of the hundreds of fine horses, including nearly half a hundred prize winners at the recent New York horse show, are to be sold to highest bidders without reserve.

* * * * *

Elbert Hubbard, the chief Royerofter, has been much in evidence for a score of years past, and is liable to be found in the front row on the stage for some time to come.

The public is fond of the new and unique, particularly when it appears as a protest against existing social conditions, and that is why the minds of many are turned toward East Aurora, and their hearts set upon the Royerofters.

Mr. Hubbard is unique in himself and artistic as well as possessed of rare business instinct, to all of which is added a restless, untiring enterprising spirit. His neighbors say that he is a born money maker, which saving is well sustained by the fact that from a small print-shop Roycroft has so grown that it now employs nearly 300 people, and its earning power indicates a property value of hundreds of thousands of dollars, instead of only hundreds as a few years ago.

Nor has this great change been effected by bonding the shop to get money, but by being so managed that its earnings have made it what it is, and without a dollar of indebtedness, and with a credit that is glit-edged.

One of the secrets of the great success of Roycroft is that no cheap goods have ever been made or sold there, nor anything turned out that is not as good and as well made as is possible for skilled home talent to make it.

Being thus well made there has ever been an increasing demand for its products, and as is well known in the business world, there is always a good profit on goods for which there is an active demand.

Of the methods and manners that prevail among the Roycrofters there is more to say, much more than can be said here and now.

The Nation's Capital

By L. W. STRAYER.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Tomorrow the senate committee on privileges and elections is scheduled to resume hearings in the Smoot investigation, and Senator Burrows, the chairman, has stated the case will be brought to a close as speedily as possible. There seems to be no doubt but that a report will be made to the senate before the adjournment on March 4, and that it will be decided whether the Mormon senator from Utah is to retain his seat in the senate or not. There is still a diversity of opinion here as to the outcome of the case, but the preponderance seems to be that Senator Smoot will not be disturbed.

It has not been proved, nor has it been attempted, that Senator Smoot is a violator of the law. No one has brought forth evidence that he personally is now or ever has practiced polygamy. In fact those who are back of the prosecution have never tried to establish this fact. What they have set out to do, so far as Senator Smoot is concerned, is to show that as an apostle of the Mormon church he owes his highest allegiance to that organization and therefore he is not qualified to take the oath as senator of the United States. There are many who have followed the case closely who believe that this fact has been established sufficiently to meet the purpose, but even granting that it has been proven that the senator is controlled in his business and his spiritual life by the will of the church, it is not believed by the majority of those about the capitol that this will be considered by the senate as a bar to his qualifying as a member of that body.

Judicial Question With the Senate.

From remarks that have been let drop it is evident that the senate will consider this case upon a purely judicial basis and that it will not be swayed by sentiment or by religious conviction. For instance, everybody who talked with the late Senator Hoar on this question left him with the belief that the venerable Massachusetts senator would vote to permit Smoot to retain his seat. What views Senator Hoar held as to the creed and the practices of the Mormon church were another matter. From his conversation it was evident that he did not see that there was any legal bar to a Mormon holding a seat in the senate so long as he personally was a law-abiding citizen. Senator Hoar has now passed from earth, and of course there is no way of ascertaining how he would have voted had he lived to see the outcome of this case. His own pure and upright life was sufficient defense against any suspicion of lax ideas or tolerance with polygamy. But there is good reason to believe that had his voice had a share in the solution of the question as to Mr. Smoot's right to retain his seat, it would have been raised in behalf of Mr. Smoot.

Polygamy Is the Real Issue.

As a matter of fact, however the Smoot case may be decided by the senate, the Christian people who have been supporting the case against him have scored a victory. Smoot's seat is not and never was the real issue in this case. The attack was aimed at the practice of polygamy, and Smoot was merely made the target on which the fire was centered. Long after the Smoot case has been decided and has passed from the public mind, this war will be kept up until polygamy has been stamped from the face of this country for good and all. This was the keynote of a large meeting held in this city this afternoon, presided over by Bishop Earl Cranston of the Methodist Episcopal church and at which some very able addresses were delivered.

To a large audience it was explained that the seating or unseating of Senator Smoot was merely an incident in the campaign that has been opened. Those who have been prosecuting the case hope that he will be expelled from the senate because they look upon him as the representative of an organization that practices and countenances acts that are contrary to the law and are repugnant to all Christians. But polygamy is the game they are after and even though Smoot may keep his seat, they will not cease their efforts until plural marriages are a thing of the past.

Plural Marriage Celebrated by a Dance.

At today's meeting one of the speakers was a woman who had lived among the Mormons for a year and she was not obliged to rely upon hearsay evidence for her statements. Some of the things she told her hearers threw new light upon the Mormon church and she told her story in a way that convinced her audience that she knew precisely whereof she spoke. Another speaker stated that in spite of the publicity that has been given the doings of the Mormons during the past year, a plural marriage has been contracted by one of the officials of the church within the last 60 days and that he gave a dance in celebration of the event. This he admitted was an exceptional case, as the usual custom is to surround these polygamous marriages with all secrecy. But in this case the bridegroom apparently had no fear of publicity and was not afraid of being called to account by the law. It is expected the case be referred to will be brought to the attention of the senate committee when the hearings are resumed.

When the prosecution, entered upon its campaign to have the seat of Senator Smoot declared vacant it had for its principal purpose the letting of the light of publicity into the affairs of the Mormon church. Ever since the Mormon church officially announced the abandonment of polygamy there has been a widespread general belief that plural marriages were being contracted in secret and that the great evil which was offensive to the Christian public was merely hidden from view and not by any means abandoned. Missionaries who had labored in Utah supported this belief with evidence that had come under their own observation. Christian ministers who had lived there said it was true. And yet whenever the accusation was formally made the Mormon church had but one reply, "Prove it." There was the rub.

Always Denied Polygamy.

Gentiles living in Utah soon learned of the difficulty of proving what they knew to be facts. Prosecutions under the Edmunds act, failed before Mormon juries. It was impossible to secure a conviction. Enforcement of the law was found to be impracticable, and polygamy flourished undisturbed in the face of the edict issued by the president of the church forbidding it. With the spread of the Mormon faith and influence into Idaho, New Mexico and other states and territories of the west, the danger to Christian homes grew. Missionaries sent into Mormon communities made but little progress. The Mormon church made counter-attacks by proselyting in the east and even sending their representatives abroad to gather converts. These Mormon missionaries strenuously denied the existence of polygamy in the church and in reply to such charges quoted the edict of the church forbidding it. And still the great organization at Salt Lake grew and thrived and polygamy remained undisturbed.

Will Fight Polygamy to the End.

And then Smoot came to the senate. He came elected by Mormon influence and representing the interests of the Mormon church. As an apostle of the church he stood for what it stood for. Here was the opportunity of those who had been casting about for some means to fight this evil. The greatest enemy of an unlawful or immoral institution is the light of publicity and here was the chance to drag the Mormon church and its practices and creed into the limelight. Thus the prosecution was begun and the right of Reed Smoot to hold a seat in the senate was questioned.

Joseph Smith, president of the church, was brought to Washington, and under the cross-examination of the attorneys was forced to admit that he was at that time living in a polygamous state. He was the father of children born of plural wives since the edict of the church was announced forbidding polygamy. From him and other high officials of the church was wrung statements that showed beyond any question of doubt the conditions existing in Utah contrary to law and most repugnant to the moral sense of all Christian people. These facts were all made matters of record and no longer can the Mormon church reply to its accusers, "Prove it." They have admitted it.

This was the real object of the prosecution of Reed Smoot, United States senator from Utah. He may or may not retain his seat, but the world knows now that the guiding spirits of the Mormon church are polygamists not only in belief but in practice. Now the Christian people will demand an amendment to the constitution of the United States that will forever wipe out this offense and they will not leave off until they have accomplished it.

WINTER'S MUSIC HAD A WELCOME

Sleighbells Chimed Cheerily While the City Was Held in Snowbound Grasp.

FAST TIME ON THE SPEEDWAY

No element was lacking yesterday in the old-fashioned winter that held Western Pennsylvania in its icy grasp. All day long the merry jingle of sleighbells rang out on the boulevards and 5,000 people enjoyed the sport on the speedway. Every horseman in Pittsburgh tried to get in the exhilarating races and some remarkably fast brushes took place. In some places the thermometers yesterday morning showed a temperature below zero. The Allegheny river is frozen at the Sixth street bridge and skating was enjoyed above the Herrs Island dam.

It was an ideal winter day. To the artist the dull, cold gray tones of the skies and the stretches of spotless snow, not yet blackened by the soot from smoking chimneys, made a picture of rare beauty—a scene that seldom is seen in local landscapes. So cold was the weather in the morning that many empty pews in the churches were the consequence. In the afternoon the temperature was moderated and gave women exceptional opportunities for a promenade in new winter furs. The parks were deserted by pedestrians and there was a slim attendance at the Carnegie art galleries and the organ recital at the music hall.

All this is surprising, because it is seldom that Pittsburgh has a heavy fall of snow so early in the season. In the last 20 years there has been little sleighing before the holidays, and as a rule December in this latitude has no snows that hold longer than a few hours. The fact that the rivers are very low explains the phenomenal appearance of ice in the Allegheny so early in the season.

Fast Spurts Were Made.

Owners of sleighs appeared on the boulevards early and at 10 o'clock more than 100 turnouts glided along the speedway. S. A. Pickering's Dr. Strong, 2:07½, had everything his own way much of the time. John G. Bennett drove Frank Wilson, 2:06¾, and J. D. Callery made a clear breast of the white track with Bill Burch, 2:07¼. George Fisher, secretary of the local matinee club, drove Esther, 2:06¾, and David G. McDonald made several long spurts with Major Wilton, 2:17¼.

This is but a very meager list of those who took part in the flying brushes on the speedway. In the afternoon the crowd became so great and so many sleighs crowded the boulevard that none of the drivers tried to make their best time. Spectators came on foot to see the fun and stood in the snow for hours watching the proud trotters in their dazzling rigs.

It was one day when the horse could look with disdain on the bad-smelling automobile. Late in the afternoon a big two-seated touring car bounded along over the slippery asphalt in St. Pierre street and entered the Schenley park driveway. At Forbes street it passed two women who were driving a little chestnut trotter in a light cutter. Over the car tracks, the auto shot like an express train past the shy little nag. The horse pranced a little and then began to stretch out her beautiful arched neck. The reins were drawn taut and the sleighbells began to shiver.

At the same time the automobile began to sputter and snort. Sometimes its driving wheels whirred around uselessly, kicking up the snow, while the machine slipped all over the road. Before the Panther hollow bridge was reached the machine struck deeper snow and struggled along hopelessly, while the women in their sleigh dashed up the hills, leaving the auto fast in the snowdrifts like a foundered ship.

Frigid in Avalon.

The Avalon thermometers yesterday morning touched zero. In the East End they dropped to two degrees above zero, and out in Westmoreland county fell six degrees below. In the country districts all kinds of winter vehicles were out in force. On account of the light rainfall the main traveled highways are in excellent condition and furnish an ideal foundation for the snow. Country prophets predict that sleighing will continue until after Christmas.

There were few sleighs to be hired in the city. Liverymen declare that sleighs are a poor investment and that persons who take sleighs are so ambitious to make fast time that they either cripple their horses or leave them stand subject to exposure in the inclement weather. There were people yesterday who offered $25 a day for a single horse and sleigh, but they could not be accommodated.

The local weather man promises slightly warmer weather today. He says there are indications for snow or rain, but since an area of low temperature follows closely upon the heels of the area of high barometer, the precipitation is likely to come in the form of snow and to be token much colder weather. The official thermometer on the Farmers Bank building registered 6 degrees above zero at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. This was the coldest weather during the day, according to the weather bureau reports.

Snow fell to a considerable extent throughout all the northern half of the country and every state that voted for Roosevelt with the exception of Delaware was blessed by the music of sleighbells.

TWO BOYS HAVE AN IDEA, WITH MONEY IN IT, MAYBE

Slippery Sidewalks Furnished the Inspiration, and Pedestrians May Sometime Call Them Blessed.

If John and Harry Heitfeld are successful in business the anathemas of pedestrians who have been wont to flounder helplessly on certain slippery corners in the heart of the retail district will be changed to blessings on the boys for their brilliant idea and on banks, railroads and business men who patronize them.

The Heitfeld boys live in the lower hill district. Last summer they went into the egg business on a small scale by establishing a half-dozen hens in a shed in their back yard. The boys expected to do a rushing business this winter with eggs at 40 cents a dozen, but lately the cost of buying a gas heater for the chicken house, the expense of piping the gas and the price of gas confronted them.

On the day of the first snow the two brothers, one of them 12 and the other 10 years old, came downtown. Both slipped and fell in front of a big business house, where the heat of the boilers underneath the sidewalks had melted the snow and made the smooth sidewalk slippery as glass. In front of a railroad ticket office they saw a man and a woman fall. At that point the cellar does not extend under the sidewalk, but the cement pavement, after a powdery snow has fallen upon it, becomes as proficient as a sheet of ice in pedestrian-throwing capacity.

Both boys got the idea at the same time.

"Why shouldn't there be money in supplying ashes to make the slippery places easy?"

Further consideration led to the rejection of ashes as being too dirty, in favor of another substance, sand. So John and Henry went home, sold their chickens to the grocer, cleaned out the chicken shed and ordered a load of sand.

"We're going to make money," said John, the elder. "Harry and I, on slippery days, intend to solicit orders for our nice clean sand. At first we will deliver it in pails carried from the house. With the profits we'll buy a wheelbarrow and travel through the downtown section, crying our wares. I don't see how there can be failure, so we'll get a pushcart and after awhile we'll buy a horse and cart and extend our business over a wider territory. Of course, we have to go to school, but we'll have time after school hours to take orders and deliver goods. If we only had the pull, we might have an ordinance passed by councils compelling business men having sidewalks that are dangerous in cold weather to strew sand in front of their places of business."

BOILERMAKERS WITHOUT A HEAD

Grand President John McNeil Has Been Impeached by His Own Local.

TO HOLD SPECIAL CONVENTION

The Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Ship Builders is without a national president. John McNeil has been suspended and ordered to pay a fine of $100 for malfeasance in office. The charges were preferred before his own lodge, Gate City No. 32. This decision will necessitate calling a special convention, which will probably be held in Pittsburgh in January.

Circulars will be sent out in a few days calling the convention, and when the referendum vote is being taken they will also decide in which city the meeting shall be held. As the majority of lodges are in this district, it is expected Pittsburgh will be selected.

Trouble has been brewing among the boilermakers for over a year. On several occasions subordinate lodges have been suspended, they allege, without any legal cause. The suspended locals were opposed to the administration, and, it is asserted, for this reason they were suspended.

About two dozen lodes preferred charges against President McNeil. The suspended locals will join in the call for a special convention. The plan is to draw up a new constitution and by-laws. The ones in vogue are crude and vests arbitrary power in the president and executive board. Complaints have been made against President McNeil for employing so many organizers. The payroll eats up the entire per capita tax, thus preventing the organization from assisting the members to secure better conditions.

President McNeil suspended all the local boilermakers' helpers for not paying per capita tax. The helpers were not allowed a voice in any convention or meeting, and for that reason would not support the administration. Charges and counter charges were made until the helpers' locals were suspended. Unless the brotherhood acts quickly and revises the constitution the helpers will affiliate with the Structural Iron Workers.

FAMILY ATE FISH AND FIVE WERE POISONED

Mrs. Mary Dougherty and Four Children in Mercy Hospital as Result of Food.

Mrs. Mary Dougherty and her four children, Kate, aged 26; Margaret, aged 20; William, aged 22, and Michael, aged 17, are at Mercy hospital suffering from poisoning. It is said that their condition is due to fish which the family had for supper on Friday evening. The hospital authorities say that the entire family has been suffering acutely since their admission there yesterday morning, but that all will recover.

On Friday evening after supper the two daughters were taken very ill and Dr. Woods of 2228 Forbes street was summoned. He could not at first account for their conditions, but when he called yesterday morning and found that Mrs. Dougherty and her two sons were suffering from the same apparent cause, he at once concluded that their illness was due to something they had eaten.

The hospital is directly across the street from the Dougherty home and they were all removed there. Inquiries by the hospital physicians led to the conclusion that the fish, of which all had eaten heartily, was the cause of the trouble. All will have to remain in the hospital for several days.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNELLSVILLE, Dec. 11.—Goaded by domestic troubles that had culminated in his entering suit for divorce against his wife, George Birchfield, a furniture salesman, aged 35, ended his life this evening at the boarding house of Mrs. Kate McGill by shooting himself. His two children were in a front room talking with Mrs. McGill when the father killed himself. The divorce suit was to come up for trial at Uniontown this week. Mrs. Birchfield has been living at Johnstown, her former home.

STRONG INDICATIONS OF ORE.

Calumet and Pittsburgh Mine in Arizona Is Making a Good Showing.

BISBEE, ARIZ., Dec. 11.—(Special.)—The Calumet and Pittsburgh pumping plant is now draining ground nearly a mile away and every watercourse in the ore formation seems tending toward its shaft. Nearly 400,000 gallons daily are being pumped and the shaft is sinking steadily at the rate of 20 feet a month. It is now down about 1,050 feet and at the bottom is iron, leached lime, broken material and soft mud, which are strong indications of ore below or on the same horizontal plane.

The Calumet and Bisbee is apparently in the bottom of the basin, as in sinking the shaft they are finding frequent seams and channels in the limestone all running full of water and many of them coming in across the dip of the line running east.

SHOULD CAST OFF OLD STANDARDS

Quaker City Rabbi Tells Followers of Radical Cure for Anti-Semitism.

COMING OF THE MESSIAH

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Press Building.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Dec. 11.

The Rev. Dr. Joseph Krauskopf declared in Temple Keneseth Israel, this morning, that not in Zionism, but in nationalism lies the cure for anti-Semitism. He said:

"Let the Jew free himself from a religious ceremonial and ritual that separates him from his fellow men, and that drives him into a Ghetto of his own creation. Let him free himself from the chimera of a messiah, who will as little come in the future as he has come in the past.

"Let him rid himself of the delusion of a return to Palestine that cannot offer half of the advantages of civilization he now enjoys. Let him worship in his synagogue in accordance with his convictions, as other people follow their religion in churches of their own. But outside of his synagogue let him live and strive as do other people. Let the flag of the country in which he lives be his only flag, his country's interests be his only national interest, his country's welfare the goal of all his patriotism.

"Let the Jew do this, and there will be no need of Zionism or any other ism looking to the transportation of Jews to foreign lands. A hundred Zions and Ugandas will open their gates to Jews in their own native lands. Degree by degree the bands of prejudice and hatred will loosen their hold on Jew and non-Jew. The vexing Jewish question will be solved. The world will be cured of anti-Semitism."

MALE POPULATION IS IN EXCESS OF FEMALE

Census Bureau Complies Report With Reference to Number of Sexes.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—A study in the proportion of sexes in the United States was published by the bureau of census today. Some of the conclusions reached are of much scientific and practical importance, and may thus be summarized:

The whole population of continental United States was first counted with distinction of sex in 1820. During the 70 years from 1830 to 1900 the absolute excess of males was greater at each census than at any preceding census with one exception, that of 1870, when the excess of males was less than in 1850 and 1860.

The greatest relative excess of males was in 1890, when in each 10,000 people there were 242 more males than females. By 1900 this excess had decreased to 216 in 10,000, less than the relative excess in 1850 and 1880, but greater than that at each other census.

In continental United States there are 1,638,871 more males than females, or about 2 in each 100 people. Probably in the population of the world as a whole, and certainly in that half of it which has been counted with distinction of sex, there are several millions more males than females. In continental United States, however, the relative excess of males is greater than the average for all countries.

LIVE WIRE FELL ACROSS BACKS OF TWO HORSES

The coolness of Chief of Police H. F. Davenport of Wilmerding averted a serious accident yesterday afternoon. An electric light wire in Station street snapped, fell across a trolley wire under it and then dropped to the backs of a team of horses drawing J. K. McKee's milk wagon. As the horses, shocked by the current, reared and started to dash down the street, Chief Davenport seized their heads and after a minute's struggle brought them to a standstill. McKee, who was sitting in the wagon, was unhurt.

Two Children Die Suddenly.

The coroner was notified yesterday of the deaths of two infants, convulsions being the cause in each case. One was Annie Uzerlom, aged 27 days, of 3009 Mulberry alley, and the other Elizabeth Henry, aged 8 months, of Hays borough.

Police Raid a House.

Police last night raided an alleged gambling house at 72 Fulton street, conducted by W. A. Boyd. Ten men were arrested and taken to the Center avenue station house.

HENRY C. FRICK SET AN EXAMPLE

Jones & Laughlin Also Contributed $5,000 for the Soho Bath House.

CITY ASKED FOR DONATION

The firm of Jones & Laughlin, Ltd., has followed the example of H. C. Frick by contributing $5,000 to the fund to build a bath house in Soho, which is to be under the joint management of the city and local women's clubs. The city contributed $25,000 to buy a site, of which there is $10,000 remaining, the lot having cost but $15,000.

After paying for the site the women have about $21,000, consisting of the $5,000 donations made each by Mr. Frick and Jones & Laughlin, $10,000 from the city and $1,000 received in small amounts from miscellaneous sources. This $21,000 is to be increased until it reaches $50,000 or more, and will then be applied to the erection of the bath house.

It may be some time before the additional $30,000 is secured, unless the city again steps in and generously makes an appropriation for the amount. Chairman Helmold, of the sub-committee on appropriations, says that the women have made a request for an appropriation of $30,000, besides the $25,000 appropriated by councils this year for the purpose.

Besides the $21,000 which has been raised for the bath house, there is an income of $80 a month in rent on the house which was bought with the site. This house contains 12 or 15 rooms and it was first the intention of the women to tear it down, until they decided to retain it and get rental on it. It will remain and the bath house will be erected on the remainder of the grounds.

The site has a frontage of 96 feet in Fifth avenue and is about 100 feet deep. It is stated that by allowing the house to stand there will be a frontage of about 48 feet for the bath house. The bath house will contain baths and a swimming pool and also a laundry for the use of the families of the neighborhood. Women will do their weekly washing there and also their ironing.

The bath house will not be absolutely free. Five cents will be charged for the bath, this including soap and towel.

COUNCILS TO MEET IN JOINT SESSION

Both Branches to Elect New Assistant City Clerk Tonight. Select to Adjourn.

A joint meeting of select and common council is to be held tonight in common council chamber to elect an assistant city clerk to succeed Harvey B. Davis, who resigned last week on account of the illness of his wife. Mr. Davis was married last summer and a couple of months ago his wife was taken ill with pneumonia while visiting her mother in North Carolina. She had a narrow escape from death, but recovered, although the disease left her lungs affected.

Mr. Davis was notified by the physician a month or so ago that his wife could not live in a northern climate. He finally accepted the situation and wrote out his resignation. He expects to obtain employment in the south.

There will be no opposition to the election of H. W. Minnemeyer, Jr., to succeed Mr. Davis. Mr. Minnemeyer is now chief clerk in the department of public works. Director Bigelow said yesterday there was no politics in the resignation of Mr. Davis; that he gave up his position voluntarily on account of his wife's illness. The director said he had a man selected for chief clerk in his department to succeed Mr. Minnemeyer. Mr. Minnemeyer's promotion means an increase in his salary of $300 a year. He received $2,000 in his present position and as assistant city clerk he will get $2,500. Director Bigelow declined to announce the name of his new chief clerk.

Select council will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock in regular session and will adjourn to meet again at 7:30 o'clock in the evening in joint session with common council, which is called to hold its regular meeting at that hour.

PAINTINGS IN CARNEGIE GALLERIES (No. 12)

"SPRING MOOD," BY GEORGE SAUTER.

A picture full of the feeling of spring, and charming in its reflective attitude of the children, is George Sauter's "Spring Mood."

GEORGE SAUTER, London, England. Member of the International Society of Sculptors, Painters and Gravers, London; corresponding member of the Secession, Munich and Berlin; knight of the Order of St. Michael of Bavaria and of the Order of the Lion of Zuhringen; represented in the pinakothek, Munich; Royal Museums, Brussels and Ghent; Municipal Museum, Venice; National Gallery, Budapest; gold medal, Munich; awarded honorable mention, Carnegie Institute, 1904.

In an admirable biographical sketch, Count de Soissons writes of him: "In all his portraits, as well as in other pictures, such as 'Music,' 'Friends,' 'Spring,' Sauter, with all the vigor of his young and great enthusiasm, strives for art, which for him is the substitute for religion: he aims at rich, gem-like quality, and harmonious depth of color, subdued, yet sunny. 'Stimmung, song,' are what he most desires to get into his pictures. Until a picture 'sings,' as he calls it, it is not 'durch,' i. e., it is not complete, not alive."

"Spring Mood" is hung in the north gallery, west wall, No. 247 in the catalogue.

GREAT COMMERCIAL LIFE AMAZES PRINCE FUSHIMI

Special Envoy from Japan Expresses Astonishment at American Progress.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Before leaving this country to return to Japan, Prince Fushimi made known tonight his views upon America. The prince has visited the big steel plants in Pennsylvania, and observed with keenest interest the capacity of some of the works for turning out big guns and the general accoutrements of war. He had studied the American agricultural situation, and was astonished at the enormous supply for home consumption and for export abroad. But of all things that which impressed the prince most was the "intensified activity of commercial life."

"You may say for the prince," said his personal representative Mr. Sato, "that he was simply amazed to find New York city such a splendid arena of commercial forces. He would never have dreamed he had returned to the New York city of 20 years ago had he awakened here unawares. The commercial activity of the entire country astounds him. The amount of business that is going on here and the wonderful way in which it is being done has impressed his highness in a way which he cannot express."

VICTIM OF HOLD-UP MAN BEATEN FOR BEING BROKE

Angry because he could find no money, Charles Burns, who is alleged to have held up Martin McGarey at South First and Carson streets, proceeded to kick and beat him till both men were placed under arrest. Three witnesses testified Burns had deliberately held McGarey up. On the strength of these Burns was remanded for a further hearing and McGarey will make an information this morning. The affair occurred about 10:30 Saturday night, and a girl who witnessed the assault ran for the police.

CELEBRATED ANNIVERSARY.

Sunday School of Sixth United Presbyterian Church Held Special Exercises.

The forty-seventh anniversary of the Sunday school of the Sixth United Presbyterian church, North Highland avenue, was celebrated last night with special exercises. The principal address was made by the Rev. Charles Y. Pierce of Scranton, Pa., who gave a "chalk talk," which was an illustrated lecture on Sunday school achievement.

The pastor, the Rev. Dr. R. M. Russell, also spoke, as did the superintendent and teachers of the school. The Sunday school is one of the largest in the city and has a membership of over 400.

THREE MEN INJURED IN MILLS AT M'KEESPORT

In mill accidents at McKeesport yesterday three men were injured. Wayne Young, aged 20, a laborer at the Monongahela Steel furnace, fell from a scaffold and received a concussion and bruises about the body. He may lose the sight of his left eye. Matheseu Berot, aged 32, fell into a pit filled with scalding water at the National rolling mill and was badly injured. He was taken from the water unconscious. Mike Landis, aged 19, a laborer at the tube mill, had his left arm broken in three places by being struck by a heavy pipe.

WILL ADD OFFICERS AND MEN TO THE FORCE

Department to Be Strengthened by Captain, Two Lieutenants and 25 Patrolmen.

A captain, three lieutenants and 25 policemen will be added to Pittsburgh's police force. The appointments of these officers will be made by Supt. Wallace before the end of the month, and selections will be made entirely on merit. The patrolmen will be detailed to the Frankstown avenue station in East End, and the Forbes street station in Oakland.

A captain will be detailed to the Oakland district; two of the lieutenants will be sent to Frankstown Avenue station, and the third will be detailed in the Lawrenceville district. At present there are five captains and 10 lieutenants on the force. Supt. Wallace maintains there are not enough officers in the East End to look after the patrolmen. According to him it is the officers who keep the patrolmen working properly.

Supt. Wallace is a close student of his men and the four officers to be selected will be taken from the ranks. Supt. Wallace selected Captains Thomas McCabe and John Callan, and Director Moore of the department of public safety recently said they were two of the most efficient officers on the bureau.

SAY BOYS WANTED TO SHOOT YOUNG GIRL

James Cluse and Toney Delle, Italians, aged 17, were arrested last night as suspicious persons. The officer was told the boys were looking for a young woman living in the vicinity whom they said they meant to shoot. Both had revolvers when arrested.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

No other medicine than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription could possibly "win out," as the saying goes, on such a proposition; but they know whereof they speak. They have the most remarkable record of cures made by this world-famed remedy ever placed to the credit of any preparation especially designed for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments. This wonderful remedy, therefore, stands absolutely alone as the only one possessed of such unrivaled properties as to fully warrant its makers in publishing the remarkable offer above made in the utmost good faith.

"A short time ago I was almost dead with nervous prostration, general debility and female weakness," writes Mrs. Loretto Webster, of 317 Virginia Ave., Lexington, Ky., Worthy Treasurer, Independent Order of Good Templars, "Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was recommended to me as a sure cure, and I found this to be true, for I obtained splendid results, securing fine health. Women ought to be grateful to think there is one safe and sure cure offered to them for their troubles. I advise every sick and suffering woman to stop spending money and wasting time with doctors' prescriptions, when a few bottles of your remedy is sure to cure. I am the happy mother of two children, boy aged sixteen, and girl, eight years."

Do not permit the dealer to insult your intelligence by suggesting some other compound which he recommends as "just as good," because he makes it himself. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has stood the test of time and experience. Thousands speak well of it—because thousands have been cured by it.

MANAGER FRED CLARKE WANTS FIRST-CLASS MAN IN EXCHANGE FOR BRANSFIELD

BRANSFIELD GOES, SAYS FRED CLARKE

Considers "Kitty" Best Firstbaseman in the Business and Wants Good Man in Return.

FRASIER BUYS A FRANCHISE

Fred Clarke, manager of the Pittsburgh baseball club, arrived in this city yesterday morning from his Kansas home. He will leave tonight for New York to attend the annual meeting of the National league. Clarke will go prepared to effect trades of players, which will strengthen the local club.

Clarke conferred with President Dreyfuss yesterday, and last evening he announced that First Baseman "Kitty" Bransfield would not be with the Pittsburgh club this coming season. This is the first official announcement that Bransfield will not be here again.

"Bransfield does not want to come back again. He told me so several times last year, and as he is desirous of changing scenes I think it is the best to let him go," said Clarke.

"I consider Bransfield one of the very best first basemen in the business. He can play first-class ball, but at times he did not do it last year. He was not playing his game, and the action of some patrons of the park who seemed to take delight in going after him, seemed to effect him. Kitty always had his ear open for criticism. He would complain to me, and I advised him to pick out the offenders and I would have them excluded from the park.

"I also advised him to 'go after them' himself, and I would help him," continued Clarke. Bransfield will not be given away or exchanged for any inferior player, according to the manager.

List of Players.

Clarke stated he knows of no more new players who will be signed, or of any trades, but he is in a receptive mood. He said there are now 28 players on the roster, and none of the new ones will be given positions until he has seen them work. The players are:

Pitchers—Phillippe, Leever, Case, Lynch, Flaherty, Robertaille, Cannitz, Savidge, Holmes, Bridges and Goodwin.

Catchers—Phelps, Harry Smith, Carnish, Sid Smith (of the South Atlantic league), Archer and Land.

Infielders—Bransfield, Ritchey, Wagner, Leach, Kruger, McBride, Clancey.

Outfielders—Clarke, Beaumont, Gilbert, McCormick, Cassidy.

Clarke gave out the information that Chick Fraser, the Phillie pitcher, who is his brother-in-law, has bought the franchise of the Akron club of the Iowa State league, and would probably retire from the National league.

Josh Clarke, Fred's younger brother, who used to play the outfield on the Homestead team, and who the past three seasons played with Des Moines, is in fine shape and will work hard for a regular place on the St. Louis National club the coming season. Josh is a fine player and very popular in this section.

"The stork visited Josh's home Sunday night week ago, and left a fine bouncing boy. You should see Josh strutting around since the visit," said Fred.

Umpire's Funny Decision.

Fred Clarke is looking the picture of health. He has been on his farm since the close of the season, and last night he complained of having to discard a baseball shirt for a white one and the white collar.

"I took part in a baseball game Thanksgiving day that was a corker. The first and second teams of our town played. I had two nephews on the first team and one on the second.

"Chick Frasier pitched for the second and I played short. I was at bat nine times and I had that number of runs and hits. A pop fly went safe every time, that is the reason.

"One decision of the umpire was funny. I was on third and 'Chic' got on first. 'Chic' started to walk off first and they made the play on him, and when I started for home the ball was thrown to put me out. The players ran me up and down the line. 'Chic' in the meantime walked to second. I got home safe, and then was attracted by the cries of players on our side to the umpire of 'He's safe, umpire.' 'Who,' yelled back the umpire. 'Why the man on second, because there were more than four men on the line at the same time trying to put him out.'

"'You're right,' replied the umpire, and the game went on."

Why Selbach Moved.

Perhaps the real story of how Selbach was switched from the National to the American league and who made the advances has never been printed, says a Columbus paper. Selbach told of it the other night at a little fan session. It was in the latter part of 1901, when the New Yorks were playing in Boston, that the Washington American league club was also playing the Boston Americans. Owner Fred Postal approached him there that day and said: "How would you like to play in the American league, Kip?"

Selbach replied, naturally, "What's in it?"

Postal came back with, "Name your price."

He was then getting $2,400, and Kip asked him for $2,800—for a two-year contract. Postal agreed to meet him in New York later and talk it over. The day they were to have played in New York it rained, and Selbach did not get to see Postal. After the season he came back to Columbus and a letter came along from Manager Collins of Boston, offering $3,000. McGraw then wrote from Baltimore, saying that he would like to have him, too. Kelley and Seymour were spoken of as the other outfielders and McGraw said he wanted a good man to play with them. Kip replied that if the salary question would be all right he might play there. McGraw later went through Columbus and at a meeting at the Nell house Kip signed for two years at $3,200. The strange part of it was McGraw jumped back to the New York Nationals as manager in July of 1902, and asked him to go along again, which Selbach refused. That year, when in the west with the Columbus bowling team, in December, he signed with Dan Loftus to play in Washington on a two-year contract at $4,000 a year. The contract was drawn up at Dubuque, Ia., the home of Loftus.

Back to Old Love.

The Columbus fans are elated over the purchase of Ollie Pickering, the athletic outfielder. Pickering played in Columbus six years ago, and being too good to hold went into the major leagues where he has stayed ever since. He had a season of hitting not up to his usual standard this year and his average of .224 was secured in 122 games. He played utility part of the time which always hurts a player's eye. The year before he hit .281 for Mack, which shows that he has the stuff in him.

Pickering went to Columbus in 1899. He played with St. Joseph the year previous, batting .245 in 93 games. With Columbus he played in 1899, until the middle of July when the entire team was transferred to Grand Rapids, the Torreyson aggregation coming to Columbus. That season he hit .285 in 120 games and fielded .931. In 1901 he went to Cleveland and batted .308, fielding .951. The following year he hit .259 for the Cleveland team when he was transferred to Philadelphia where he has remained ever since.

MAROON ATHLETES DO WELL IN THEIR TRY-OUT GAMES

CHICAGO, ILL., Dec. 11.—(Special.)—The first try-out for University of Chicago track candidates brought out a field of 25 freshmen, and Coach Moloney was well pleased with the showing of the men. He is ready to predict a string of victories for his team this winter.

HALVES ARE CUT TEN MINUTES

The Management Tires of Long Hockey Games—Locals Expect to Win Tonight.

SIXSMITH IS IN THE HOSPITAL

The final hockey game of the series between the Portage Lakes of Houghton, Mich., and the Pittsburghs will be played at Duquesne garden tonight. This will be the last appearance of the United States champions in this city, all their other games being played in the copper country and the two Soos. They will leave for Calumet tomorrow morning and will have their first go at Hod Stuart's team Friday night.

Tonight's game will not be as long drawn out as Saturday's contest. It has been found inadvisable to play 30-minute halves in these hot matches, owing to the time lost on account of accidents. At a conference yesterday afternoon between John McNamara, manager of the Portage Lakes, and A. S. McSwigan of the Pittsburgh club it was decided to cut the actual playing time from 30 to 20 minutes each half.

"While this will give visiting teams an advantage," said Manager McSwigan, "it is the interest of the game in Pittsburgh I am looking at. People here think an hour and a half is long enough for any match. The longer the games last the better chance we would have of winning, because of the large ice surface we play on. All the other rinks are small, and, not being used to a big ice surface, visiting teams would find it harder to keep up the pace here.

"We don't need any advantage of this kind. After the showing of the Pittsburghs Saturday night I do not think there is anything in the league that has anything on us. Houghton fought desperately, but Spittal and his men were too much for them. If Portage Lake plays hockey and cuts out the rough house game we will win the final match. A week ago I said I would be satisfied with one game out of the three. After last night's performance I will not be satisfied with anything but two."

The two teams spent yesterday resting after Saturday night's conflict. The Michigan men are quartered at the Monongahela house, where many local friends visited them.

It was rumored yesterday that Garnet Sixsmith would not be in tonight's game, owing to the wallop he got over the eye. He had to go to the East End hospital, where he was attended to. The Pittsburgh players were photographed singly yesterday, and after looking at the camera spent an hour in team practice.

LATEST NEWS FROM DIFFERENT COLLEGES

At a meeting of the junior class Eliot G. Parker, '06, of Providence, R. I., was elected manager of the Brown university football team for 1905. At the same time Ralph L. Elrod, '07, of St. Albans, Vt., was elected assistant manager.

The varsity "B" has been awarded to fifteen men of Bucknell's football squad by the athletic committee. The veterans who were honored were Capt. Johnson, Cockill, Capt.-elect Cooper, Smith, Smiley and Lenhart. Those who were granted permission to wear a football "B" for the first time were: Lasher, Adams, Morris, Wheeler, Frank Sheppard, McKeever, Baldwin, and Manager Charles Marsh.

The athletic committee of Lehigh university has awarded the varsity "L" to the following members of last spring's baseball team: Badgley, Bason, Blazer, Brush, Jones, Marshall, Powell, Shields, Snyder. The monogram "D. U. B. B. T." was given to Gott, McCleary and Pelley.

Owing to the resignation of Herbert I. Benjamin, '05 science, as captain of the Columbia lacrosse team, John D. Van Buren, '05 college, has been chosen as leader of the team for the coming season.

Early training for the baseball and track teams has begun at Purdue university with excellent prospects in both sports. "Jimmy" Nufer, trainer of the football team, will be in charge of the track and field men.

The 1,000-yard A. A. U. championship to be decided at the Pastime A. C., New York, carnival on December 31, looks like a tussel between Bacon, Pilgrim, Sanford and Christoffers. It is hardly likely that "Mike" Murphy will enter Parsons, the Yale crack, as he does not want his man to be "on edge" at such an early date.

"Dick" Sheldon, the big shot-putter, last week raised the record for the shot-put to 45 feet 9½ inches.

Princeton surprised the Wanderer seven in New York Saturday night by playing a 2 to 2 score game. An extra period was played. In the first half the play was open. For Princeton Chislett did very well at goal and made some very clever stops. After about ten minutes of play K. Gordon succeeded in landing the puck in the net and scored the only point in the first half. In the second half Capt. Leake put Levis in Chew's place on the Princeton team and on the Wanderers Dufresne played in place of Gordon. From the face-off Princeton took the puck. Winter made a hard shot for goal which Heyward stopped. Leake rushed in, and before Heyward could knock the puck out of the way Leake sent it into the net.

A minute later Tom Howard scored unassisted. This gave the Wanderers the lead, but Princeton soon scored again. Winter this time sent a hard shot on a pass from Holland, which got by Heyward.

Otterbein university's football squad celebrated the annual election of a captain and banquet in an opossum roast at the college Saturday night. At the football election Frank Van Sickle was elected captain. Van Sickle has played a steady game for the eleven at tackle and has been a mainstay on the team for several years.

It looks as if Michigan will have to depend mainly on the weights, with Ralph Rose as the star performer, if the western conference championship is again to be landed by Michigan. Of course nobody knows just what track material there is in college this year. Usually Fitzpatrick has a man or two who is to be reckoned upon in forecasting first and second places in these events, but the most likely man in the dash is Keeler, a Detroit sophomore. Next to Keeler is Magoffin in prospect. He is a freshman who has a record of 0:10 1-5. Hugg, Rumney and Stern, who tried for the team in the sprints last year, will be out again this spring.

The brightest ray of hope for Michigan's success came with the return of Walter Fishleigh to college. He was a member of the 1902 championship team, and his specialties are the hurdles, pole vault and broad jump.

In the hurdles Michigan loses a good man in Stewart, the Ann Arbor lad. Nicol, a sophomore, will probably run second to Fishleigh over the sticks. As a freshman he did good work. In this event there are also Kahle and Shaw, a freshman from the Detroit Central High school. Michigan has a good list of quarter-milers in Capt. Rebelcock, Carrels, Goodwin, Norcross and Wm. Miller, the last named being of the 1902 team. He holds the varsity indoor record of 2:02 for the half-mile. In the mile run Deane, Coe and Minor, who do excellent outdoor work, will be seen, and Stone and Rowe will try to take care of the two-mile event. Rowe is a freshman from Battle Creek and has had the personal coaching of Ned Kellogg in distance running. Rowe easily won the two-mile event in the Michigan interscholastic meets of 1903 and 1904. He has the "Kellogg stride."

CONNIE MACK FOILED.

Tries to Secure Promising Minneapolis Players Without Success.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., Dec. 11.—(Special.)—Connie Mack, the manager of the Philadelphia Americans, was in Minneapolis yesterday.

"While Philadelphia did not land just where I expected her to last season," he said, "I think we will finish pretty close to the top next summer. I would like very much to secure Pitchers Ford and Thomas and Fielders Maloney, Sullivan and Oyler of the Minneapolis team, but I guess they are out of my reach for the present at least."

AMONG THE PASSERS.

The manager of the Columbia Council A. A. would like to have all managers of first-class teams write him. B. Greenstone, 820 Fifth avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The next game in the Manchester league will be played Wednesday night between the Fowler A. C. and the Manhatten A. C. The preliminary will be played by the Tom Thumbs and the Manchester Midgets of the Raleigh league.

Capt. Heuring of the Fowler A. C. is determined to get out of fourth place in the Manchester league. The Manhattan A. C. had better get ready to play championship ball Wednesday night or Capt. Harry's hope is likely to be realized.

MORE TROUBLE IN CENTRAL.

Ownership of the Springfield Franchise Cannot Be Decided Upon.

TERRE HAUTE, Dec. 11.—(Special.)—The Central Baseball league circuit was not finally completed by the admission of Springfield, Ohio, this week as had been expected. Dr. F. R. Carson of South Bend, chairman of the circuit committee, went to Springfield, as did W. A. Dugan, who held the franchise at Marion in the concluding weeks of the season, and met the Springfield men who were reported to be ready to form a stock company and back a club.

The Ohio men had supposed the Central league was so desirous of admitting Springfield that the franchise would be handed over without price, but Dugan asked $2,000 for it, while the Springfield men offered but $500. Dugan decided to form a company of his own, and opened negotiations with Ed Renick of Cincinnati, manager of the Charleston (W. Va.) team last season, who had been asked to take the management by the Springfield men.

Mautner and Heeman, owners of the Grand Rapids team, report that the deal with John Ganzel for the Grand Rapids franchise is off. Bert Dennis with Fort Wayne for two years, will be captain and Louis Hellbroner will continue as manager.

BARROWS BUYS INTEREST; WILL MANAGE HOOSIERS

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Dec. 11.—(Special.)—President Charles Ruschaupt of the Indianapolis team announced that E. G. Barrows, former manager of the Detroit Americans, has purchased an interest with him and will manage the Indianapolis players next season. The deal was closed this week, and Mr. Barrows will be here within a few days to talk over matters, but he will not come to Indianapolis to reside till March 1.

Hollis Gets an Offer.

Harvey Hollis, the local pitcher, has received an offer from the Sioux City team, which will be managed by Pat Carney. Hollis was in the New England league when Carney was playing on a team in the same organization.

RIDERS STAND THE "GAFF."

Contestants in Six-Day Race Feel No Ill Effects at End of Long Grind of Last Week.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(Special.—Despite the ordeal of the last week, the six-day bicycle riders who were seen today showed few signs that their condition was otherwise than normal. Like trained athletes who have made a great effort, they were somewhat stiff and tired, but this they regarded lightly, saying they were ready for another race.

Root and Dorlan, the team which won first money, went to their homes in Brooklyn at the close of the contest Saturday night. Vanderstuyft and Stol, who came in second, were at the Putnam house today, after spending the night at the Turkish bath, both appearing to be fresh and cheerful.

Gouglotz and Breton, the Frenchmen, who tied with three other teams for third place, were found at the Bartholdi. All they complained of was a slight stiffness of their muscles. It is expected that the prize money will be paid to the winners tomorrow at noon at the Bartholdi.

HILDEBRAND IN LEAD.

Brings Home 165 Winners, Best Record of All Jockeys on the American Turf.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(Special.)—Eugene Hildebrand, the clever California rider, who, but a little more than a year ago, was riding at Seattle and other far western tracks, stands at the top of the list as the leading winning rider on the turf this year.

During the eastern racing season, which closed at Bennings on Saturday last, this young rider brought home 165 winners and has the most remarkable record of all jockeys on the American turf. During the season he beats the list as jockey winning the most money. He has earned more than $50,000 for his employers during the season.

Hildebrand aspires to beat the record held by C. Reiff of having the largest number of winning mounts in one year. Reiff's record is 292 winning mounts for a season, and was made in 1896. Hildebrand, so far this year, has ridden 281 winners, which includes 19 winners since he left the east in November.

HALF-SHEARED BY FOES, STUDENT WINS IN DEBATE

West Virginia Youth Defies Opponents Who Gave Him Severe Hazing.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Dec. 11.—The pluck of Boyd C. Sharity, a student, has made him a hero at Marshall college. In the inter-society debate last night Sharity represented the Virginia Literary society. He was recognized as a forceful speaker, and members of the rival organization, the Erosephians, feared the result.

As Sharity left a car and started through the college campus to the place of debate he was attacked by half a dozen masked men. With Sharity was Will Parker of Charleston. Sharity and Parker fought bravely, but the latter was knocked down and badly beaten, while Sharity was soon subdued. Shears and a razor were produced and one side of Sharity's head was shaved close. After his release, instead of running to his room to try to conceal his humiliating appearance, as it was supposed he would do, Sharity hurried to the college auditorium.

With the left side of his head white and the other black with long curls, Sharity stood before the audience of 500 people and spoke for 40 minutes, taking the affirmative on the subject "Resolved, That ambition has caused more harm than good to mankind." He won the decision.

Cheers filled the hall when he finished, and the Rev. T. H. Fitzgerald pressed forward, and taking Sharity by the hand said: "Though the Philistines sheared our Sampson of his locks they could not rob him of his strength or deprive him of his honor." The faculty of the college will make an investigation. Arrests will be likely made tomorrow. Although masked, the names of the men who assaulted Sharity are known and they are members of prominent families.

FELL IN FRONT OF CARS.

Icy Streets Caused Two Men to Slip, and They Were Badly Hurt.

Slippery streets caused two street car accidents yesterday afternoon. At 2 o'clock Edward Cliff, an insurance agent of 37 Pine street, New York city, attempted to cross Sixth street, near Duquesne Way, in front of a Troy Hill car, when he slipped and fell. The car struck him, breaking his left wrist, and causing a serious scalp wound. He was taken to the Allegheny General hospital.

Shortly before 4 o'clock, Benjamin Ingram, aged 40, of 709 Chartiers street, Allegheny, slipped in front of a Western avenue car, near his home and sustained several ugly cuts about the head, some bad body bruises by being hit by the car. He was also removed to the Allegheny General hospital.

According to the officers of the steamship she boarded the La Lorraine at Havre, and hiding herself in the steerage, was not discovered until the steamship was a day out on her way to this port.

Owing to her age and infirmities she was not obliged to work her passage, but was fed and cared for by the officers of the ship. She wanted to get here to reach her nephew, who lives near Scranton, and who in frequent letters, has asked her to live with him. She started, without waiting for money. She is held at Ellis island. A hearing will be held on her case early in the week.

CROWDS VISIT SCENE OF DEADLY EXPLOSION

Gruesome Souvenirs Picked Up Where Three Men Lost Their Lives.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Dec. 11.—Thousands of persons have visited the river front below Catlettsburg today, the scene of yesterday's nitro-glycerin explosion, in which three men were killed. The men killed were Thomas O'Huff and Charles Buchanan of Marietta, O., and William O'Leary of Parkersburg.

John O'Leary, a brother of the last named, had just left the craft half a mile this side of the explosion or he would have been killed also. The explosive was made by the Producers Torpedo Company of Marietta, O., and was being sent by that firm to Hayesville, Ky.

The visitors to the scene today were gathering all kinds of relics as mementoes, and one man from this city found a portion of a human skull as large as the palm of one's hand half a mile away from the scene. The gruesome souvenir was being exhibited on an electric car bound for this city. Two women fainted at the sight of it.

A fleet of timber at the scene of the explosion was wrecked, portions of the logs landing on a hillside almost a mile from the scene. The plate glass broken by the force of the explosion in Ironton, Ashland, Catlettsburg and Huntington will amount to nearly $10,000.

Homestead to Play Manchester.

The Manchester team is scheduled to meet the Homestead A. C. team tonight in Raleigh hall. Dickson, who has held the record for goals scored from field in one game for more than a year, will be in the game against the Lower Allegheny team. The Manchester management is after a new player, and, if no hitch occurs, he will be in the game against Homestead tonight. He will be used at guard, but is able to take his turn at center or forward if needed, and will prove a tower of strength to the local team. The Manchester Juniors will meet the D. L. and G. A. team in a preliminary to the big game.

HARMONY IN AMERICAN.

Presidents Pulliam and Johnson Will Talk Over the Schedules.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(Special.)—Perfect harmony prevailed at the meeting of the American league, according to Frank J. Farrell of the New York Americans, who got back from Chicago yesterday. "The league is in a most flourishing condition," said Mr. Farrell. "Every club except Washington made money. If the Nationals will agree to 140 games, the Americans will frame their schedule accordingly, otherwise, the old 154-game schedule will prevail. It would be a mistake for us to play 140 games if the Nationals stuck to 154, for there would be too many conflicting dates. When the two schedules are ready next February, when the big leagues convene here at the same time, everything will be agreed upon by Johnson and Pulliam, the two presidents. No other persons will take a hand, which will do away with the wrangle of last year in which Ebbets and Dreyfuss took part. Johnson and Pulliam will try to avoid conflicting dates in every way, and a square deal will be the result all around."

VAN GORDER LEADING THE SCHOOL LEAGUE

Van Gorder of Pittsburgh High school still leads in goals shot in the Interscholastic Hockey league. R. Robinson is second, thus giving High school two leaders. Wilkinsburg broke into the column Saturday by Bunton and R. Robinson, each shooting one against East Liberty. Capt. Karl Mueller of East Liberty secured his first goal Saturday.

Mueller is not satisfied with the showing his team made Saturday, and contemplates changes ere the next game is played. The records:

| | 1st half. | 2nd half. |
|---|---|---|
| Van Gorder, Pittsburgh | 1 | 3 |
| R. Robinson, Pittsburgh | 1 | 2 |
| R. Mueller, Shadyside | 2 | 1 |
| Patterson, Shadyside | 2 | 0 |
| Reisfar, Pittsburgh | 1 | 0 |
| Babst, Shadyside | 0 | 1 |
| Harmer, Pittsburgh | 0 | 1 |
| Carter, East Liberty | 1 | 0 |
| Robertson, East Liberty | 1 | 0 |
| Herron, Shadyside | 0 | 1 |
| Fleeger, Wilkinsburg | 1 | 0 |

PITTSBURGH IS SUPPLYING JAPAN

Large Contract for Electrical Equipment for the Uses of War.

SECURED BY WESTINGHOUSE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Dec. 11.

The Westinghouse interests through the Japanese house of Takata & Co., have just secured a large contract for electric equipment to be installed in one of the large arsenals which are turning out the guns for the mikado's army.

The war between Russia and Japan has had the effect of more than trebling American exports of electrical machinery to the far east, the bulk of which comes from the East Pittsburgh works of the Westinghouse Company. In the 10 months ending October last Japan took $890,193 worth of electrical equipment from this side, compared with $251,168 worth for the 10 months ended October, 1903. In October of this year the Westinghouse people shipped nearly $50,000 worth out of the total—$66,754—exported to Japan during that period.

The Canadian end of the Westinghouse Company—The Canadian Westinghouse Company, Limited—has sold to the Hamilton Cataract, Power, Light and Traction Company for use on its Victoria sub-station at Hamilton, Ont., two motor-generator sets, each consisting of a synchronous motor and a direct current generator.

The motor generator sets will be of two-bearing type, the generators delivering direct current at 550 volts to the railway system and each being rated at 750 kilowatt capacity. The synchronous motors will take two-phase current at 8,000 alternations and 2,400 volts and will be rated at 1,350 horsepower.

The excess in capacity of the motors is to be provided so as to permit of their utilization to raise the power factor of the transmission system. Power is to be taken through lowering transformers from the high tension transmission line from the De Cew Falls station of the company. These motor generator sets will be built at the Westinghouse works at East Pittsburgh.

Some $100,000 worth of Westinghouse rotary converters, etc., have been ordered by the El Oro Mining & Railway Company, a British capitalized concern which is substituting steam power for electricity at its El Oro mines, located in the well-known Mexican mining district of that name. The contract came through G. & O. Braniff & Co. of Mexico City, who represent the Westinghouse Company in the southern republic.

Cambria Company Gets Contract.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(Special.)—The Cambria Steel Company has secured an Australian contract calling for the shipment of about 1,500 tons of structural material to Adelaide for bridge work. Shipment will begin in January.

DRIVE JAPANESE BACK INFLICTING HEAVY LOSS

Russians Prevent Advance—Attack on Czar's Ship at Port Arthur.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

MUKDEN, Dec. 11.—The Japanese opened a heavy fire on the Russian position east of the railway at 4 o'clock this morning, but the Russians had searchlights in readiness and for the first time used them. These army lights proved very effective and a deadly rifle and artillery fire being concentrated upon the Japanese advance, they were driven back with heavy loss.

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 11.—It is reported at Mukden that the Japanese are largely colonizing Southern Manchuria. It is said they are sending there seven million emigrants and that they are also sending many young Chinese from Manchuria to Japan, paying their traveling expenses.

LONDON, Dec. 12.—An unofficial report from Port Arthur, according to a Tokyo dispatch in the Daily Mail, says that Japanese torpedo boat destroyers attacked the Russian battleship Sevastopol at the mouth of the harbor the night of December 9, with what results is not known.

The Daily Telegraph's correspondent before Port Arthur reports, under date of December 9, that there were desperate encounters last week. The belligerents, the correspondent adds, mutually recognize the Red Cross and collect the dead and wounded during temporary suspensions of fighting.

The Daily Telegraph's Tien-Tsin correspondent learns from official Japanese sources that Japanese casualties at Port Arthur the latter part of October were 3,000 killed and 10,000 wounded. The losses in more recent attacks, the correspondent adds, were much heavier. The same correspondent has heard that continual fighting is proceeding south of Mukden.

The correspondent at Shanghai of the Daily Telegraph, in a dispatch dated December 11, says that according to Pekin reports the Russians have retreated to the south bank of the Hun river after 72 hours' fighting, with heavy losses. On the fourth day of the fighting, the correspondent says, the Japanese assumed the offensive. The Mukden station is reported to be in a wild state of confusion. The Daily Telegraph thinks the authenticity of the foregoing reports from Chinese sources of heavy fighting is very doubtful.

UNITED STATES TRADE INCREASING WITH CHINA

Exports for Ten Months Exceed the Largest Previous Total by Half Million Dollars.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Commerce between the United States and China for 10 months shows a larger total, both in imports and exports, than in the corresponding months of any earlier year.

The October reports issued by the department of commerce and labor show the total imports into the United States from China during the 10 months ending with October, 1904, at $23,903,324, which exceeds by more than $3,000,000 the largest total ever recorded, and the exports from the United States to China in the 10 months ending October, 1904, of a value of $20,556,184, which exceeds by about $500,000 the largest total in the corresponding period of any earlier year.

This is especially interesting in view of the fact that trade with China, particularly as relates to the exports to that country, has been materially reduced during the last two or three years, due presumably to the hostilities in progress in that part of the world.

HETTY GREEN TALKS.

She Thinks Banks and Lawyers Used Mrs. Chadwick to Get Money for Themselves.

BOSTON, MASS., Dec. 11.—(Special.)—Hetty Green thinks the bankers and lawyers got most of the money which Cassie Chadwick secured. She stopped over in Boston last night and said to a reporter:

"I don't know the woman; I never knew her kind, but you just wait until the thing's over and you probably won't find her to be quite as wicked as she's painted just now. Probably they'll find some of these big bankers and lawyers have been behind her using her to get the money."

Miss Hilda Clay, sister of Capt. Spencer Clay, is said to have first introduced her brother to his present wife, the daughter of William Waldorf Astor. Miss Clay is an English beauty of considerable renown and was one of the bridesmaids at her brother's recent wedding. She and Mrs. Clay (nee Astor) have long been chums.

HOPES A CATHOLIC WILL BE PRESIDENT

Philadelphia Priest Desires Federation to Become Strong Enough to Elect One.

NO POLITICS, SAYS MEGARGEE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Press Building.
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Dec. 11.

"I hope the Catholic Federation will never cease in its efforts until it may be possible for a Catholic to sit in the chair of George Washington. That is now impossible, because of bigotry and hatred."

These words were uttered by the Rev. Cornelius Gillespie, rector of the Church of the Gesu, Eighteenth and Stiles streets, this afternoon, at the quarterly meeting of the Philadelphia Federation of Catholic Societies. As an illustration of the possibilities of federation, Father Gillespie said:

"There are 500,000 Catholics in Philadelphia. If they were all to march to the city hall and demand good water for the city, they'd get it. The history of England tells us that in 10 years Henry VIII. succeeded in making the whole English people apostatize from the Catholic church. The people were not federated and didn't know what was going on. Here in America, if we are not federated we will be swamped in the great ocean of unbelief around us."

E. Edwin Megargee, president of the Philadelphia County Federation of Catholic Societies, and who presided at the meeting, was questioned regarding the significance of Father Gillespie's reference to electing a Catholic president, and said: "We will not take part in or advocate the election of any man to political office. If any question arises which affects Catholic interests, we, as federationists, regardless of politics, will ask for what we believe to be right and what we are entitled to. The one thing above all others we desire and intend to avoid is in any way mixing in party politics."

WOMAN TRIED TO ROB A FEMALE DETECTIVE

Attempted Theft Caused Fierce Struggle and Panic in a Crowded Elevator.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

KANSAS CITY, MO., Dec. 11.—A woman pickpocket selected for her victim in a department store here last night Mrs. Jessie Stewart, a woman detective, employed by the store. She tried to take the detective's chatelaine from her belt in a crowded elevator.

Mrs. Stewart grabbed her and a fierce struggle followed as the elevator coursed to the main floor. The thief stabbed the woman detective viciously with a long steel hat pin, puncturing the flesh of her arms several times, but the detective held on and fought back. Women shoppers caged in the car with the combatants screamed and the panic continued until the car was stopped on the first floor.

The combatants, struggling still, swept out into the main room. Christmas bundles were knocked from women's hands and from the tables. A floor walker rushed to the woman detective's assistance and the shoplifter picked him four times with her hat pin before she was overcome. The police were called and the pickpocket was taken into custody.

DISINTERS WIFE'S BODY FREQUENTLY

Indian Territory Man Has Her Remains Re-Bathed and Re-Clothed.

CORPSE IS WELL PRESERVED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CADDO, I. T., Dec. 11.—While J. W. Moon, a wealthy merchant of Caddo, was away on a hunting trip his wife committed suicide. It was impossible to communicate with the absent husband, so relatives and friends prepared the body for burial and interred it.

When Moon returned three days after the funeral he seemed distracted with grief, and insisted that the body be exhumed and reprepared for burial according to his ideas. Some of the most prominent women of Caddo assisted, bathing the body again and placing upon the dead the black silk dress in which her grief-stricken husband said he always loved her most.

The incident created a profound impression in the community, and this impression had scarcely waned when Moon shocked the women who had assisted him in the first disinterment by requesting them to help him in similar procedure. He stated he wanted the body bathed again and clothed in fresh linen. Some of the ladies finally assented. Again the body was consigned to the grave.

Two weeks later Moon again disinterred the body and went through the former procedure. This time he had difficulty in getting the white women to assist and the next time he proposed to perform them he was compelled to hire negro women. As he repeated the performance again, finally these hired assistants deserted him, frightened by the fear of "spooks," and Moon was left to attend to his remarkable devotions alone.

This has been going on for three months. Moon seems rational on all other subjects, but he declares that so long as his dead wife's body resists decay he will keep it clothed in fresh linen and free from all impurities of the grave.

The body has not been seen by anyone but the husband for some weeks, but when last seen was declared to be in a wonderful state of preservation, approaching almost mummefaction.

Gentlemen:

A few days ago we started running a small add in your Classified Department. We at that time had a number of second-hand engines that we had very little call for, but at this writing we have disposed of every second-hand gas engine that we had for sale, but as we continue getting in more from day to day we will certainly keep our add with you, as it surely brings us the people that want the goods, we have for sale.

Yours very truly,

DEN OF THIEVES IN A CITY HALL

Allegheny Pastor Tells of Graft and Corruption in Days of Jerusalem.

RECENT NEWS JUST AS RACY

"We are not digging up this ancient history to in any way disparage that ancient notion whose failings love would prompt us to cover, nor do we hope to find in this ancient history any news more racy than the latest developments in city halls not so far away," announced the Rev. T. Rose Paden, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Allegheny, last night after he had told of the trafficing in the temple of Jerusalem during his sermon on "A Den of Thieves in a City Hall."

The pastor took his text from St. John, ii:15-17, "And when He had made a seourge of small cords He drove them all out of the temple. And His disciples remembered that it is written 'the zeal of thine house hath eaten me up,'" and said in part:

The temple in Jerusalem was not only the place of worship, but it was the city hall, where the rulers met and where the Sanhedrin, in all probability, voted Christ to death. The high priest Annas secured his position through political connivance. He controlled the temple market and regulated the price of offerings. The dove-cotes of Annas on the Mount of Olives brought him immense profits. At one time the price of pigeons was so high that poor people could not afford to make offerings. So, also, at one time, the price of lambs was so high in the temple market that a generous rabbi brought in 3,000 sheep from the country to break the corner and make it possible for the poor to secure their Paschal lamb.

This temple market was called the "Bazars of the Sons of Annas." If poor people brought their offerings along with them they were compelled to pay the inspector. The tribute had to be paid in the half shekel of the sanctuary, and the money-changers charged 5 per cent for exchange and found many excuses for charging more. Neither the people nor the lower officials could do anything to shake off their oppressors. All they could do was to report violations at headquarters, and the chief in authority was the chief transgressor.

We must learn solutions to such oppression if we are to understand the life and follow the example of Him whose angry frown drove from the temple the men who were the chief violators of the law they were sworn to uphold. I intend to show this evening Christ's indignation that His Father should be forgotten and ignored in His own house. All authority is from God, and those in authority are in God's house and answerable to the Almighty, and when the temple failed of the purpose for which it was built it must be restored or destroyed.

Everything out of place is dirt. All departure from God ends in utter corruption. The temple officials cared nothing for the offerings of the people so they received their raiment. We stand in a more sacred temple, hallowed by more sacred blood. Let us not tramp underfoot the great and only sacrifice for sin.

NEW CHURCH IS DEDICATED.

Methodist Protestants of Beaver Falls Hold First Service in Structure.

BEAVER FALLS, Dec. 11.—(Special.)—The dedication of the Methodist Protestant church of Beaver Falls today proved a very important event in the history of that congregation. The new church is 42x142 feet, and the seating capacity of the main auditorium is 500, with a Sunday school room having a seating capacity of 350. Under the church is a fine basement, in which is provided a dining hall, kitchen and gymnasium.

The dedicatory sermon was delivered by the Rev. Dr. David Jones of East Liverpool, O. At the afternoon session the Rev. E. A. Fletcher presided and besides a fine musical program consisting of anthems and hymns, visiting pastors made short addresses. The evening sermon was delivered by the Rev. Dr. George Shaffer of Bellevue.

DEDICATE SWEDISH CHURCH.

Congregational House of Worship Was Consecrated Free of Debt.

The new building of the Swedish Elim Congregational church at Parker avenue and Jenny Lind street, McKeesport, was dedicated last evening. The sermon was preached by the Rev. A. F. Tornbion of Pittsburgh, who was assisted in the ceremony by the pastor, the Rev. Charles Palm. Three services were held in connection with the dedication.

At a platform meeting in the afternoon the following clergymen gave addresses: The Rev. A. D. Nelson, Chandlers Valley, Pa.; the Rev. D. Lofstrom, McKeesport; the Rev. Howard Eccles, McKeesport, and the Rev. Nels Nilsson, Youngstown, O. The congregation was organized a year ago, and the new structure was dedicated free of debt. It cost $5,000, and is of brick and frame.

MISSIONARIES SPOKE.

The Gospel Workers in Foreign Fields Occupied Local Pulpits.

Visiting missionaries from India, Egypt and the Soudan, who were in attendance at the semi-centennial missionary convention of the United Presbyterian church in the Sixth church last week, occupied several local pulpits yesterday and delivered interesting addresses on their experiences in the foreign lands.

The Rev. W. H. Reed of Egypt spoke in the First church, Pittsburgh, on mission work in the valley of the Nile; the Rev. Osborne Crowe of India described the work in that land in the Tenth church, Allegheny; Mrs. J. P. White spoke of missionary work in Egypt, in the Lincoln Avenue church, and many other congregations heard similar experiences from both their pastors and visitors.

HAPPY MARRIAGE IS NOT A RARITY

Dr. J. Leonard Levy Discusses Matrimony from Standpoint of State and Church.

USE AND ABUSE OF DIVORCE

"Happy marriage, successful from the standpoint of church and state, is by no means so rare as long-haired men and short-haired women would have us believe," announced the Rev. Dr. J. Leonard Levy in the Eighth Street temple yesterday morning during his lecture on "Marriage and Divorce." Continuing he said in part:

Perfect marriage is rare because perfect men and women are rare. Marriage, which means the union of two kindred souls in a life-long alliance in which the desire for reproducing self is heightened by the willingness to guide and to guard the progeny along the path of virtue, will always secure the happiness of the contracting parties, the permanence of the state and the performance of virtue.

To us, marriage is a civil contract consecrated in the name of God and witnessed to by the state. As far as the church is concerned, such a contract may be inviolable, but fortunately for the masses in this country the church and the state are separate institutions and we live under civil and not ecclesiastical government. The state recognizes marriage as an agreement entered into by the high contracting parties and requires a faithful performance of the terms of the contract. When these terms are not lived up to, the state, on the request of the injured, may declare the contract void. This, to me, seems altogether fit and proper. There is only one greater injury that can be afflicted upon the innocent party who is the victim of the broken marriage contract and that is the impossibility of being relieved from the awful conditions that must ensue. That the privilege may be abused and that liberty may tend to cause some to run riot can never be used as an argument against the legitimate use of the privilege and right.

There are those who advocate legislation to cure the ills of the divorce court. I have no doubt but that uniform divorce laws and uniform marriage laws would help to prevent, to some degree, frauds which are now practiced. I have no doubt but that a decree "nisi" which would necessitate the flight or passage of six months between the publication of a divorce and its permanent fulfillment might remove some evils. I have no doubt but that a law requiring parties to register themselves at least 21 days before marriage and the publication of their names in the papers or outside public buildings might tend to prevent the runaway marriage and other evils. And I have no doubt but that a law which prohibits the re-marriage of the guilty party to a divorce suit would undoubtedly help to mend matters, but in the long run it will be found that the evils are cured at the top when they should have been reached at the root.

Legislation will not drive out of the heart of men the love of vice and the enjoyment of things vile and vicious. Legislation will not put into the heart of man the love of virtue and the respect for things holy and high.

It has been well said on high authority "Those whom God has joined let no man put asunder." No man can sunder those whom God has joined. It is because other than Godly motives move men and women to marriage that the evils complained of are so frequently encountered. When God joins man and wife, you may be sure there will be no possibility of parting them.

ARBITRATION, GOD'S WAY, SAYS ALLEGHENY PASTOR

The Rev. Dr. J. S. Hutson Declares Such Christian Settlement is But Old Bible Doctrine.

"Settlement by Arbitration" was the subject of the sermon delivered in the Beth-Eden Baptist church, Chartiers street, Allegheny, yesterday morning by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. J. S. Hutson. He took for his text, "For there is one God and one mediator between God and man, the man Christ Jesus, who gave Himself as ransom for all, to be testified in due time," and said in part:

Whether we accept or reject the account of the fall and recovery of man and the race as recorded in Genesis, the fact is very clear man and the race have fallen and recovery from some source is needful. It is very evident man and God are not on good terms, that there has been a falling out and reconciliation is necessary. It is just as clear men are estranged from each other.

The old fight between the masses and the classes, capital and labor, nation against nation, is still on, and never since the world began has it waged more fiercely. That a speedy and effectual settlement is needful and imperatively demanded is the conclusion of civilized humanity. How long shall the slaughter and the bloodshed continue? Various expedients have been suggested. The most popular now is settlement by arbitration, or, to use the catchy phrase of the president in his recent message to congress, "Peace with justice," and not by compromise. This, after all, is simply saying what Abraham Lincoln said long ago, "a thing is never settled until it is settled right."

To go back still further, it is simply a restatement of the old Bible doctrine of settlement through a mediator, and that mediator is the well-beloved son of God, Jesus Christ, the world's redeemer. Strange that mankind should be so slow in coming over to the side of God and the Bible on a question so vital; but, thank God, they are coming. The recent peace conference at St. Louis, the letter addressed by our government to the powers looking toward the permanent establishment of the peace tribunal at The Hague and the willingness on the part of Great Britain and Russia to refer that unhappy occurrence of the North sea to such a tribunal, all point in the same direction. This is God's way and therefore the best way of settling disputes; not by any appeal to arms or brute force, but by an appeal to reason and intelligence and upon principles of eternal truth, justice, love, and forgiveness.

OFFICERS PROTECT PRIEST.

The members of the parish, who had threatened him, committed no overt act.

EVADES LOCAL OPTION LAW WITH SALOON ON WHEELS

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 11.—(Special.)—The recent Brannock law elections in the Fourth ward do not affect at least one saloonist, Lawrence Sharkey. He put his saloon on wheels yesterday and moved it across the street, starting up business a block in the Third ward, which is still "wet."

ALL COMPETITORS WERE EASILY OUTDISTANCED

In Every Department The Sunday Gazette Outshone All Those Who Aspire to Be Its Rivals.

Again does The Pittsburgh Sunday Gazette outshine all of its so-called competitors in the realm of news, features and pictures. Just how a journal such as The Gazette of Sunday can be prepared for such a nominal sum is what is puzzling so many of the readers. But it is getting easier every week because each Sunday finds a still greater number of people clamoring for it.

The editorial section this week contains a Christmas story by O. Henry, a writer with peculiarly entertaining qualities, a story of the world's fair to be held at Portland, Ore., memories of Gen. George B. McClellan by Col. A. K. McClure, Erasmus Wilson's Quiet Observer department, and a financial review by John O. Baglin. The Home Journal section was bright, instructive, right up to the mark in everything essayed, and with a fund of general information for the housekeeper. Miss Bradshaw writes entertainingly of Historic Homes at the nation's capital, and Catherine Howard makes some timely suggestions for home-made Christmas gifts. Buster Brown, Sammy Sneeze, Foxy Grandpa, Little Kary and the others in the comic section sustained their reputations as fun-makers.

In the world of news the great Chadwick case continues to occupy the center of the stage. There was no phase of it that The Sunday Gazette did not chronicle. Cleveland authorities say that Mrs Chadwick's paper to the amount of $800,000 is held in Pittsburgh. A Pittsburgh woman who knew Mrs. Chadwick in her girlhood talked of her early life and characteristics. Andrew Carnegie was subpoenaed to testify as to the forged papers found in the banks. It is claimed these forgeries will total $20,000,000. The trust agreement held by Jri Reynolds proved to be a document calling for $10,240,000, and Andrew Carnegie's name is signed to it. The woman's financial operations have practically wrecked the town of Oberlin, O. She remains in prison in New York and may make a fight against her removal to Cleveland.

Nothing of a definite nature as to battles was received from Port Arthur. Both sides are apparently resting on their arms. Despite the war the Japanese minister of war and Gen. Kuropatkin, who are old acquaintances, continue their friendship.

The ore season closed with brilliant prospects for next year. The steel pool will keep the 1905 price for rails at $28. President Roosevelt was sharply rapped by a woman suffragist. The Bethlehem Steel Corporation was incorporated in New Jersey. A kidnaped girl was found a prisoner in the Catskills. The collapse of a stock hastened the death of a New York broker. The funeral of Hugh McLaughlin, the Brooklyn political boss, was attended by thousands. By a mistake molasses was poured into the boilers of locomotives on the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling railroad, rendering them useless.

Thieves knocked a clerk senseless and robbed the office of a coal company at Altoona of $2,000. Agitation for higher salaries for Pennsylvania school teachers has borne good fruit. Old party leaders in Cumberland county agree to quit the use of money for the purchase of votes. The Fellowship club of Philadelphia paid tribute to Senator Knox at a dinner at which the distinguished guests were burlesqued.

An important agreement was entered into between the Pittsburgh Coal Company and the Pittsburgh-Buffalo company. Solicitor Rodgers' opinion on street car service is prepared for councils. Councilman Helmold says Superintendent Cunningham of Carnegie library holds his position illegally. Uniform rules will probably be adopted for the government of the Republican party in the county. T. D. Keller permits the use of his name as a Republican candidate for controller. Laura Biggar denied the rumor of a settlement in the Bennett will case and declares she is prepared to fight to a finish. Heavy snowfall brought out the cutters. Two pawnbrokers were arrested in connection with the pawning of stolen jewelry. Court is to decide whether Selwyn M. Taylor's estate is entitled to recover $25,000 from the Provident Savings Life Assurance society. Allegheny constable returns a number of clubs as speakeasies.

Secretary Locke of the Pirates has gone to New York to prepare for the meeting of the club leaders and to arrange for the annual meeting of the Pittsburgh club. The Pittsburgh hockey team evened up with Portage Lake by winning Saturday night's game 3 to 1. The New York bicycle race was won by Root and Dorion, the team which represented New York state. The Wilkinsburg hockey team scored a fine victory over the East Liberty academy. The indications are that Jimmy Britt will be the favorite over Battling Nelson in their coming fight.

Stocks in New York were active and buoyant, closing at or near the best prices of the day. New York bank loans decreased $8,513,500, cash reserve decreased $1,633,400, and surplus reserve increased $826,125. But little buying was done in wheat.

Croat Club Raided.

The Allegheny police last night raided the Champion Hunting and Fishing club at 1546 East Ohio street, and locked up 12 members. The club has a charter and is the only Croatian social club in Allegheny. The former church building where the congregation of St. Nicholas Roman Catholic church worshiped, is used as the clubhouse. Those arrested put up forfeits for their appearance at a hearing this morning.

New C. P. Church Dedicated.

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Dec. 11.—(Special.)—The new Cumberland Presbyterian church here was dedicated today. Other denominations attended and their pastors and choirs assisted.

Indications for New Pool Are Not at All Flattering

From start to finish the developments in the lower southwest fields were the least interesting of any for many weeks. No wells of any special importance were drilled in and the few that reached the producing formation were either light producers or dusters. All were inside the old defined limits and showed no extensions to the fields or indicated the probable discovery of a new pool.

There is but one point of interest in the lower southwest fields. It is the 30-foot development west of Mannington in Marion county, W. Va. The failure to get any new wells into the producing formation during the week left nothing to claim attention but the larger producers. The Trees & Benedum test on the J. L. Holden farm showed the most strength and kept its average production for the week above 400 barrels a day. The South Penn Oil Company's No. 2 on the C. S. Pitzer farm made a very good record up to the middle of the week, when it declined to nearly 200 barrels a day and was then given a 12-quart shot, which sent the production up to 25 barrels an hour and kept it there for 24 hours ending Saturday morning at 7 o'clock was 400 barrels.

Before the close of the week there will be two and possibly three wells drilled into the sand. All are inside defined limits or so little in advance of present producing wells that they will have very little bearing on extending the producing limits of the pool. The only importance attached is the probable size of the wells when drilled into the pay. There are wells in advance of production drilling and starting that will be of very great importance when completed. It will be almost a month under the most favorable circumstances before the result of these tests will be known and when drilled in they will be closely watched. The chances for duters will be as likely as for producers, and they will furnish some information as to the direction of the producing belt from the pool as now defined. The seven wells now producing are located on a small area and furnish no information as to what may be found in any other direction. It is deep territory and a duster will put the operator who drills it to the bad for from $6,000 to $8,000.

Wetzel county completed more wells than any other deep sand district during the week. The showing made by the new wells was not at all satisfactory. All were light or dry, and of the latter kind there were not a few. It is quite certain that better results will have to be realized in this district or there will be a slump in development work. The Littleton district completed but two wells, and both very light producers.

In the Pine Grove extension the Criswell Oil Company drilled in a second test on the Jackson farm and got a producer, estimated to be good for 75 barrels a day, in the Gordon. This is another district that shows a very marked decline in operations.

In the fifth sand district, near Fairview, Marion county, the South Penn's No. 1 on the A. Conway farm dropped below the 200-barrel mark, but under agitation on Friday it went up above that mark. During the week several wells in this district should get the sand.

Along the eastern edge of Tyler county five wells were completed. Two are small producers, two dusters and one a good producer, estimated at 75 barrels a day. It is the property of the Fisher Oil Company, and is located on the Jones farm.

The Week district, in the same county, is completing very few wells. In advance of developments, Trees, Ellsworth & Davis have drilled their second test on the Bullman farm into the Maxon sand and have a show for a good producer, estimated at 25 barrels a day. A producer of that size in the Maxon formation was not expected, for the reason that all of the wells in the older part of the pool got their production in the Big Injun. The Wick pool is still the most active in Tyler county.

Ritchie county contributed nothing but light pumpers and dusters. This county has fallen to the rear in development work and promises to be very quiet during the winter months unless a new pool can be discovered.

Woods, Pleasants and Wirt counties are in the same class with Ritchie. While there is a small amount of work doing in each, it is all in old defined territory and is of no special importance.

The Yellow creek district, Calhoun county, is still quite active, and an occasional good producer is found. Some of the old producing wells are still holding above 100 barrels a day. Among the lucky operators in this district during the week was the Eastern Oil Company, when it drilled in its No. 6 on the Kilgsten farm and got a producer that started at better than 100 barrels a day. The Ann Oil Company also drew a prize when it drilled in its test on the Matthews farm and got a producer good for 100 barrels a day. The Yellow creek district will be fairly active all through the winter months. It is one of the few districts that has not been troubled to any great extent by a shortage of water.

Operators in southeastern Ohio had nothing to claim their attention during the week, except in the old fields, where the drill has been fairly active for many months. No new pools have been discovered, and as a rule the wells in the older developments have come in light and many of them found a place in the list of dusters. While the efforts to open new territory have not met with success, the search has not been abandoned, and will be continued so long as the weather conditions are favorable. Like West Virginia, many localities in the Buckeye state are suffering from a shortage of water.

Drilling is still active in the shallow sand districts in Washington, Morgan, Noble and Athens counties. The last-named is receiving more attention than at any previous time since it began to claim notice. The result so far has been a few small producers and a much larger number of dusters.

The upper Homeworth district, in Columbiana county, is coming to the front with some good wells. During the week the Renner-Deibel company completed its No. 2 on the William Barber farm and got a producer that had an initial production of 90 barrels a day. There are nine wells drilling and starting in this district.

DEADLY FUMES CAUSE DEATH OF CRAFTON MAN

William J. Hopper Left Gas Burning When He Retired, and Slept Away.

A small gas stove burning directly under a lighted gas jet in his bedroom proved a death-trap for William J. Hopper, who was found asphyxiated at his home in Dinsmore avenue, Crafton, yesterday afternoon. Hopper was 58 years old, and with his son, Samuel E. Hopper, conducted a plumbing business in Crafton. He went to his home shortly before midnight Saturday, and after an hour's cheerful chat with members of his family, retired. His son accompanied him to his room and before bidding the father goodnight remarked the elder man had best not touch the gas stove and light, as they had been properly adjusted.

The father went to bed with the gas burning low in the stove and with the light immediately over it also turned low. As it was customary for Mr. Hopper to sleep late Sunday mornings, no alarm was felt when he did not appear before noon. At 1 o'clock it was decided to rouse him. On opening the door both flames were found to be extinguished and the room was filled with gas. Hopper lay dead in his bed. The paper on the walls and the ceiling was black, although there had been no explosion. It is supposed after Hopper went to sleep the heated air from the gas stove extinguished the flame above it. As the room was tightly closed the flame in the stove went out through lack of oxygen.

Hopper was one of the best-known residents of Crafton and was well known in Pittsburgh. For 10 years he was superintendent of the Pennsylvania Iron and Tube works in Pittsburgh, and for eight years superintendent of the Dunbar Iron Company at Dunbar. Three years ago he left Dunbar and joined his son in Crafton in the contracting plumbing business. He was a civil war veteran, and is survived by his widow and two children, Samuel E. Hopper and Mrs. J. W. Taylor, Jr., both of Crafton.

MERCHANT MARINE LEAGUE SUGGESTS TONNAGE DUES

Shipping Interests Could Thus Be Built Up Without Burdening the General Treasury.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CLEVELAND, Dec. 11.—The Merchant Marine league of the United States has sent out a statement setting forth the views of the league in its effort to rehabilitate the merchant marine of the United States.

The statement says that from a study of the evidence taken, it would seem hardly possible to carry the matter forward without government aid, yet it also seems possible to avoid in the beginning any charge, and throughout to avoid any undue burden on the general treasury by imposing tonnage dues similar to those abroad. Speaking generally and assuming, as seems possible, that it can be worked out equitably, it is clear that any aid should be devoted to steamers, regardless of speed, and to sail vessels upon proportionate basis of actual service; or, to prevent excessive cost of administration, probably better to be based on approved statistics and tables of comparative ability and service of sail and steam vessels.

The officers of the league have made some provision for furnishing unbiased information, and will be glad in response to inquiry addressed to the league at Cleveland, to give such aid as they may be able to in that direction.

DEDICATE CHURCH.

Knoxville Christian Congregation Celebrates Opening of Its Handsome New House of Worship.

The new Knoxville Christian church, Charles street and Knox avenue, was dedicated yesterday with special services morning, afternoon and evening. At all three services the principal addresses were made by the Rev. Dr. Wallace Tharp of Allegheny, with the pastor, the Rev. Frederick M. Gordon, presiding. The dedicatory sermon was delivered at the afternoon service, at which the Rev. Dr. W. R. Warren, editor of the Christian Worker, assisted.

The edifice is of buff brick with stone trimmings and was erected at a cost of $20,000 on a lot purchased for $4,000. The building is modern throughout and contains a gymnasium and shower baths. The congregation formerly worshiped in a frame structure on Jocunda street, which also sheltered the Knoxville Presbyterian church in its early days, and which has now been sold to the Knoxville Boys' Brigade. The congregation was organized in 1890 with 18 members and now has 340.

The winter carnival at Keane's auditorium, Butler and Forty-fourth streets, given last week under the auspices of Company G, Sons of Veterans' Reserves of Sharpsburg, will be continued another week. The large auditorium and a dance hall have many entertaining sideshows, oriental theaters, booths and country stores. There are a number of free attractions, including Frank McCann, a one-legged cyclist, who performs some startling tricks; Le Mar and Savage, in a number of sensational aerial and acrobatic feats, and the Dawson sisters in illustrated songs. Last week Miss Angie Flaherty of Lawrenceville was elected carnival queen, with a total of 852 votes.

SAINTS ARE CANONIZED BY SUPREME PONTIFF

Impressive Ceremony in St. Peter's—American Prelates Attend the Services.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ROME, Dec. 11.—In the presence of 60,000 people assembled in St. Peter's, Pope Pius X. this morning canonized Blessed Alessandre Sauli and Blessed Gerardo Maielle, descendants of whom, including Marquises Ambrosio, Sauli and Negrotto, assisted in the canonizations.

The papal procession met in the Sistine chapel, entering the Basilica by the Chapel of the Holy Sacrament. The pope, in the full pontifical costume, was carried in the Sedia Gestatoria. Cries of "Long live Pope Pius," came from the audience. His holiness was surrounded and followed by guards of the court and high prelates. He looked pale, fatigued and less robust than a year ago. He was escorted to the throne, the cardinals, archbishops and bishops forming a square about him.

Pope Pius pontificated, preserving a calm, reverential air to the end, although, as he confessed later, he was greatly fatigued.

After the ceremony the procession was re-formed, amid murmurs of love and loyalty. All the American prelates now in Rome who assisted at the beatification on Thursday of the saints canonized today were present, as was also the faculty of the American college at Rome.

ARE YOU SICK?

If so, where?
Headache?
Dry, hacking cough?
Foul tongue?
Loss of appetite?
Lack of energy?
Pain in stomach?
Bowels?
General weakness?

These are but a few of the signs of indigestion.

Some others are: Wind in the stomach or bowels; constipation or diarrhea; pale complexion; spots before the eyes; dizziness; loss of flesh; irritability; sleeplessness; nervousness.

All these symptoms will plague and torment you, and will never permanently leave you once you suffer from them; only are sure, in time, to get worse, if not treated by the best known scientific method of cure—Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

These curative tablets are composed of ingredients which modern knowledge of the true inward process of digestion approve of, as forming the best, safest, surest and most scientific combination of medicinal drugs, that can be used to relieve all the conditions of ill-health brought on by this much-dreaded disorder.

A disease so "protean" or changeable in its manifestations, assuming so many forms, characterized by so many different symptoms that, more times than not, it is mistaken for some other disease altogether, and the poor patient may die, or at best allow the seeds of permanent, chronic sickness, to germinate and take root in his system.

So it is a real danger we ask you to avoid, when we say: in case of doubt, take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Even if disordered digestion is not the real cause of your sickness (which, probably, though, it is), yet your digestion is nearly certain to be out of order, and if allowed to remain so will seriously complicate your sickness for you.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, then, will be sure to do you good, and will not interfere with any other medicine you may be taking.

They will help to make your food make you strong, and thus, if in no other way, help you back to health by helping your system to throw off disease like a healthy duck shakes water off its back.

Shake off your sickness with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

STOCK MARKET DISTURBED BY WILD PERFORMANCES

It's Difficult to Determine the Importance and Future Influence of the Various New Elements Injected Into the Situation.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Developments of the week in the commercial, financial and political world have been of more than usual interest and importance. So much, in fact, has been crowded into the interval and the entire period has been so seriously disturbed by the wild performances of a self-constituted speculative "leader," or stock market dupe, that it is difficult even yet to assign to a proper position and determine the relative importance and future influences of the various new elements injected into the situation.

Commercially the country has experienced a sharp decline in the price of the greatest staple, cotton, with much attendant uncertainty and unsettlement to the textile industry, and also to southern planters and bankers. Apparently some of the heresies preached for higher prices of cotton still linger. What else can explain the reports of meetings all over the south advocating the holding back of cotton, which reaches the extreme in the press dispatches of Saturday from Montgomery, Ala. An organization of farmers there propose to burn 1,000,000 bales, prorated through the southland, in order to maintain the price at 10 cents a pound.

In the cereal markets also have been developments of interest, but rather the reversal of the case with cotton. High prices there have been followed by the announcement of wheat importations from Antwerp and from the Canadian northwest, and now comes the information that a paternal government will apply the drawback provision of the Dingley tariff act, remitting 99 per cent of the duty on imported wheat when exported in the form of flour.

Financially, the entire community has been called upon to witness a remarkable spectacle in the stock market—a spectacle remarkable not only for the extent of the collapse in paper values and their equally remarkable recovery, but also remarkable for the manner in which the collapse was brought about. It is not unnatural that Wall street should seek to minimize the importance of a semi-panic produced at least in part by the devices of a mountebank at a county fair.

Unsound as on many occasions is the foundation upon which a speculative market rests, it would never do to let the impression go abroad that it can be toppled over at will by a mass of incendiary advertisements and alarming telegrams, directed chiefly against a blind pool security, but gradually expanding in scope, until proper ties of various kinds and characters are included within the list, that the simple-minded are urged to sell.

Whether the chief losses have fallen in the stock collapse upon the large professional operators, or upon the smaller speculators principally, the out-of-town contingent who have been dealing through the wire houses, is a question over which Wall street disputes. It is really immaterial except in so far as it affects individuals. The fact must remain undisputed that heavy losses have been incurred. No matter how the market has recovered, the entire community has had an object lesson as to the risks attendant upon speculative ventures. There is little that is cheering to the man "stopped out" at the lowest prices to observe his securities selling at highest figures within a few hours. He has sustained his loss and is out of conceit with speculation for a time thereafter.

It is difficult, as was said at the outset, to give to the various developments of the week their proper position in determining the future course of the security market. They certainly raise some new problems in the market. The fundamental position is assuredly strong, with its bounteous harvests, reviving industry and abundant monetary supplies. The slump in stocks was unattended by any flurry in money rates, and there seems very little likelihood of any acute monetary stringency for a long time to come. There seems to be no good reason, then, why the bond and investment demand should not continue, unless investors should become disturbed by the interstate commerce question in Washington. That the continuance of such a demand will give a sustaining force to the stock market is wholly likely.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—(Special.)—Good authorities here believe that the bear raid upon Wall street will turn out to have been a blessing in disguise, in that it has brought about a more healthy condition in the markets which were showing some tendency of inflation.

For a time on Thursday it was feared that another Northern Pacific panic was imminent, and in the evening the scene in Throgmorton street was very animated, stocks being offered dollars below the prices ruling a few minutes previously and far sharply rising again.

United States Steel ordinary shares dropped from Wednesday's closing price of 32⅞ to 28 and the preferred shares from 96¼ to 88, these quotations finally rallying in the street to 28⅞ and 90¼, respectively. Union Pacific, which on Wednesday left off at 117, gave way to 106½, ultimately closing at 112½.

In regard to Amalgamated Copper stocks, which fell over 20 points in the day, it is stated that on the day preceding the slump several London broker firms received cabled advices to buy. Perhaps the prevailing view in Capel Court is reflected in the following extract from the Daily Telegraph's city article:

"T. W. Lawson of Boston, whose exposure of the methods of the Standard Oil trust is at least interesting, will before many days find it does not pay to advise a person who is believed to be the richest man in the world, and the recovery in Amalgamated Copper on Friday night to 72, after being 60 on Thursday, looks as if his punishment was already beginning."

TO DISCUSS SUNDAY LAWS.

Meeting Scheduled for Turner Hall Postponed Later in the Week.

The meeting of the Business Men's Protective league, scheduled to be held yesterday at 3 p. m. in the Forbes street Turner hall, to discuss proposed amendments to the blue laws, was not held. Not more than 10 persons were present. The meeting had been called hurriedly, because of the short time at the disposal of C. J. Field, the secretary of the league. On account of insufficient publicity there was no widespread knowledge of the meeting.

It was decided to call a meeting for Tuesday or Wednesday evening, probably in the hall of the German Beneficial union. The druggists' association will be largely represented at that meeting and care will be taken that small shopkeepers, who are the chief ones to suffer from spasmodic enforcements of the blue laws, shall be notified of the time and place of the meeting.

Monument to Bridger Unveiled.

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 11.—A monument over the grave of James Bridger, the famous guide and explorer who discovered Great Salt Lake and Yellowstone park, and who opened the overland trail, was dedicated in Mount Washington cemetery today. It was erected by Gen. Granville M. Dodge of New York, the engineer who located the Union Pacific railroad.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK IN THE LOCAL MARKETS

Business Falls Off and the Advance in Sugar Was the Only Live Feature.

The week past was a quiet one in the local markets. The volume of business was scarcely equal to that of the preceding one. The only remarkable movement in any line was the big advance in sugar, all grades being marked up 25 points last Thursday. The advance followed two advances by the refiners, both of which were made within 48 hours. The supply of raw sugar is said to be scarce and the jobbers were about out of stock, which forced them to raise their prices to meet the demands of the refiners.

The egg situation has grown worse during the past week and there is every prospect that a further advance will take place this week, owing to the bad weather now prevailing. Shippers are complaining of no eggs at points of shipment, and the theory that big packers were gathering up the stock and forcing up prices seems to be an erroneous one. The big packers are said to be as short as those of more modest business relations.

Butter is said to be as high as it can go, but another advance is threatened today, and dealers are awaiting the returns from the meeting of the Elgin board this afternoon with anxiety. The demand for butter has fallen off wonderfully the past few weeks. Substitutes are finding a ready sale, taking the place of the high-priced real article.

The provision market dropped off another half cent all along the line Saturday and no improvement is looked for just now. The heavy snows and cold weather will be bad for the pork packers, as the cold weather makes admirable killing time for the farmers and the snow enables them to get their product to market easily. Until the stock of farm pork is all worked off the market it is not believed there can be any rally in the provision line.

The receipts of fruit and produce for the week were extremely light, barely enough to supply the demand. Apples have almost ceased to come in, while potatoes are also getting to be scarce in the daily arrivals. Prices have not advanced materially as yet, but are expected to go up soon.

The stock of fruits and produce on hand Saturday in the local markets was as follows: Apples, 41 cars; bananas, 20; cabbage, 18; carrots, 2; celery, 6; cranberries, 2; grapes, 2; lemons, 3; onions, 8; oranges, 20; pears, 2; potatoes, 38; squash, 1; sweet potatoes, 5; miscellaneous, 19.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts of hay and grain Saturday were as follows: Pennsylvania lines, 15 cars hay, 14 cars oats, 6 cars rye, 2 cars wheat, 16 cars corn and oats, 17 cars corn; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 3 cars hay, 3 cars oats, 2 cars corn; Baltimore & Ohio, 7 cars hay, 2 cars oats, 4 cars corn.

The week was a good one in the hay and grain market and no difficulty was found in disposing of goods at full quotations. The hay receipts were light and good hay was in great demand. The price moved up during the week and is expected to maintain its present figures. The receipts of corn became very heavy during the week, rsulting in prices dropping decidedly. Some corn is still received in bad condition, having been shipped in damp and close cars. As a result there has been more or less complaint on this ground. The demand for oat and wheat straw was heavy and prices held firm, but rye sagged and appeared neglected, which resulted in lower prices. Shippers of grain are rejoicing in the victory they have apparently won over the railroads on the bill of lading fight. The railroads have decided not to enforce the rule that the bills were not negotiable. This was the principal point at issue and the shippers and receivers are rejoicing over the outcome.

ICE CLOGGING POOLS.

Steamers Are Towing Behind in an Effort to Bring Down Coal.

Rivermen are hopeful of an early realization of the long belated river rise and are trusting for a rise in temperature to swell the rivers with the melting snow and ice.

Much difficulty is being experienced at present in moving coal out of the Second, Third and Fourth pools owing to ice. All through Saturday night and all day yesterday the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company tows were towing behind in efforts to break through. The boats succeeded fairly well in breaking through, and unless the low temperature continues, expect to have the pools fully opened by today.

MANY CASES AT CENTRAL.

Magistrate Stewart Had 123 Prisoners at Yesterday Morning's Police Hearing.

Magistrate Stewart had a busy time of it yesterday morning, he having 123 prisoners before him. Seventy of these were discharged. Many were for gambling or visiting gambling houses. Twelve men had been arrested at Ed. Grossman's restaurant, but the proprietor put up such an earnest talk that he and his customers were discharged. Louis Bearman of 53 Federal street, was fined $25, and seven men arrested in his place were fined $5 each.

The alleged gambling houses of Joseph Levenduski, 3340 Butler street, and Logan Owens, 3338 Smallman street, were raided by officers yesterday morning. A number of visitors were found in each place. A poker game was in progress at Levenduski's, and a crap game at Owen's, and liquor was being sold at both places. Magistrate Kirby fined Levenduski $50 and costs. Owens was held over. The visitors were fined $5 and costs each.

HURLED INFANT TO SAFETY AS ENGINE BORE HER DOWN

Knowing That Death Was Imminent, Miss Emma Cross Threw Niece She Was Carrying to Father, Who Was Walking Tracks Ahead

Realizing that death was upon her as she was struck by a shifting engine while walking on the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad near East Pittsburgh yesterday morning, Miss Emma Cross, aged 25, of Oak Hill, hurled her 4-year-old niece she was carrying to the father who was walking ahead, and by such presence of mind probably saved the life of the child.

Shortly before 11 o'clock Martin Cross, aged 30, a widower of Oak Hill, his sister Emma and daughter Emma, left home to take a Pennsylvania train to Wilkinsburg at Turtle Creek station. Owing to the snowbound roads they sought the railroad tracks. Cross led the way and his sister followed, carrying her niece in her arms. Midway between East Pittsburgh and Turtle Creek a shifting engine, pulling several empty cars, bore down upon them. The engine was running slowly, and as the walkers were well wrapped up because of the cold, they did not hear its approach. Just as the engine struck the young woman she realized her danger, and with a shriek tossed the child forward, the father turning in time to catch the little girl in his arms.

Miss Cross was crushed under the engine, both legs cut off and bruised horribly about the body. Continuing onward, the engine struck the father just as he was about to jump from the track and hurled him, with his daughter, to the right of the track. He sustained a crushing blow on the right shoulder and was bruised about the head, while the child was thrown to the ground underneath her father with such force as to receive bad cuts and bruises and, it is feared, serious internal injuries.

Drs. C. H. Bair and W. S. Ploepner were summoned from East Pittsburgh and gave emergency relief, after which Miss Cross was placed upon an engine and hurried to the West Penn hospital, where she died in a few hours. Cross and his daughter were taken home and it is believed the child may die. The father is employed as trainman at the Westinghouse works in East Pittsburgh.

ECONOMY PRACTICED IN POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT

Mr. Wynne Makes Many Recommendations for Improvement of the Service.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Postmaster General Wynne, in his annual report to the president, says:

I have pleasure in recording a year of most successful administration. Postal revenues have increased. Salutary changes in the classification of the mails have been carried out greatly to the benefit of the service. Amendments to regulations facilitating the handling of mercantile packages in bulk have been put into effect. At home and abroad postal facilities have been extended. Exchange of money orders with foreign countries has been simplified and cheapened. Parcels-post conventions were extended to European countries as an experiment with Germany five years ago. They have been extended to Japan and the British colony of Hongkong to meet changes of trade conditions in the far east; also to Norway.

Economy and strict accountability have been enforced in all branches of the service. While the so-called deficit of $8,779,492—that is to say, the excess of expenditures over receipts—is greater by $4,219,447 than for the fiscal year 1903, it must be borne in mind that the expenditure authorized for the extension and maintenance of the rural free-delivery service during the past fiscal year was $4,902,287 greater than the preceding year.

For facility of references the chief recommendations contained in this report requiring action of congress to give them effect are here summarized: That proper legislation be enacted to acquire the title of block No. 324 in the city of Washington, for the purpose of erecting an annex to the postoffice department building; an amendment to existing law so as to provide for the termination of official bonds of postoffice officials; that third and fourth-class mail matter be consolidated at the rate of postage now paid on third-class mail matter—1 cent for each 2 ounces.

That consideration be given to the recommendation that congress fix a rate of 3 cents a pound, or any fractional part thereof, on packages not exceeding 5 pounds mailed at the distributing postoffice of any rural free delivery route for delivery to a patron on said route. This to apply only to packages deposited at the local postoffice for delivery to patrons on routes emanating from that office, and not to mail transmitted from one office to another.

That the interstate commerce law be amended to prohibit telegraph and express companies, or any of their employes, from aiding and abetting in the greengoods or lottery swindles or any other scheme carried on partly by mail and partly by common carrier, in violation of the postal laws; that the office of the assistant attorney-general for the postoffice department be made presidential, and the salary attached thereto increased to $5,000 per annum; that congress consider the propriety of granting an annuity to railway postoffice clerks who are permanently disabled in the line of duty; to provide penalties for the sending of dangerous or destructive objects or matter in the mails; that penalty be provided for the use of counterfeit postmarking stamps for the improper certification of pension vouchers or for any other purpose; that the establishment or maintenance of private letter boxes without authorization of the postoffice department be prohibited.

CORPORATIONS AND LABOR EXHAUSTIVELY INSPECTED

Secretary Metcalf's Annual Report Also Deals With the Conditions of Immigration.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Secretary Metcalf's annual report of the department of commerce and labor contains the following:

The bureau of corporations has made exhaustive examination of judicial decisions for the purpose of ascertaining fully those constitutional powers and restrictions on which present conditions are based, and also those which must be necessarily involved in any future legislation for the improvement of present legal corporate conditions.

For the purpose of ascertaining and presenting in available form the legal conditions under which corporate business is being carried on in the various states material obtained from 30 states has been compiled and tabulated. In each of these states, with regard to all the more important corporations organized in the state and engaged in interstate or foreign commerce, typical either of the state's industries or of its laws, every paper or document filed or recorded concerning each corporation was examined separately, and all information relating to each corporation disclosed by the official records has been collected and compiled. There have been thus far examined and abstracted the records of over 1,500 corporations, which include the larger part of the more important industrial and commercial corporations, joint stock companies, and corporate combinations in the United States.

There is now ready for publication a compilation of the federal and state statutes dealing with illegal industrial combinations—the so-called anti-trust laws. This will afford complete information of such laws, showing in tabular and condensed form, so as to be readily available and easily comparable, their provisions, including the decisions thereunder and a digest and discussion of cases involving the common-law principles as to combinations in restraint of trade.

The results of the investigation of the beef industry, authorized by resolution of congress, will be made the subject of a special report.

The commissioner of labor reports that the bureau has been engaged during the past year in the collection of data for its nineteenth annual report (for 1904) and in the preparation of that report. The annual report for 1903 related to the cost of living of workingmen's families and the retail prices of staple articles of food used by such families. The report for the present year relates to a subject closely allied—that of rates of wages and hours of labor—and is the result of an extensive investigation among the leading manufacturing and mechanical industries of the United States covering the period from 1890 to 1903, inclusive.

Work will shortly be begun on the collection of data relative to strikes and lockouts in the United States, which will form the basis of the annual report for 1906. The sixteenth annual report, published in 1901, brought the facts relating to strikes and lockouts down to and including the year 1900. It is expected that the report for 1906 will cover the period from 1901 to 1905.

The important work of this bureau is fully and ably considered by the commissioner-general of immigration in his report for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1904. The statistics submitted by him show that for the year the total arrivals of aliens at ports of the United States was 812,870, exclusive of 27,548 admitted for the purpose of passing through the United States to foreign territory. Of these arrivals 30,374 entered through ports of Canada, 10,742 entered ports of the insular possessions of the United States other than those of the Philippine Islands, and 771,754 were admitted at seaports of the United States. More than one-half of the entire immigration was composed of the Italian, Hebrew, Polish, Slovak, and Magyar races. There were decreases in arrivals of 27,356 from Italy, 5,185 from Austria-Hungary, and 5,704 from Japan. There was an increase of 18,843 from Great Britain, and approximately of 100 per cent from China. Of the total arrivals 549,100 were males and 263,770 were females. As to age, 109,130 were 14 years old or under, 657,158 were between 14 and 45, and 46,555 were 45 or over. The records show 3,963 as able to read but not to write, and 168,908 as illiterate, leaving a remainder of 640,014 who, it is assumed, could both read and write. The total amount of money shown by the arrivals was $29,564,488, or about four and one-half millions more than the aggregate amount brought by the largest number of alien arrivals of the preceding year. There were denied admission at seaports of the United States as members of the various classes excluded by law 7,994 aliens, and 779 previously admitted were deported upon the ground that they were in the country in violation of law.

Holiday Furs

Pittsburgh people have been wearing Paulson furs for 68 years. More are wearing them this year than ever before. These facts are worth considering—

Beautiful Siberian Squirrel sets.....$25
Sable Squirrel Sets (Mahogany Brown color) $30
Mink Neckpieces.....$25
Muffs .....$30
Chinchilla Muffs.....$30

Ermine—never so popular as now—Beautiful pieces to select from—A hint—Don't buy Ermine with yellow skin—it is a work of inferior quality—we sell pure white skins only—

Baum Marten, 2-skin scarfs $35. Handsome matched sets in Hudson Bay and Russian Sable—Blended and Natural.

Children's furs in all new shapes—Isabella and Sable Fox Boas and Muffs at low prices—if you want them—we do not advise buying foxes this year, however, as we do not consider them good style—We have other furs more fashionable and serviceable, and just as reasonable in price—

Alaska Seal and Persian Coats in stock for quick delivery—Fur lined cloth coats in stock or to order—Nice for street, for the automobile, or for wear over evening clothes.

In brief, the biggest fur stock in the city is here—Don't buy until you see it.
